Dear Aunt Lurah,

I'll start out the GETZ information by summarizing some of the information from Nicholas GETZ' estate papers. When he died in 1833, he left a wife, Elizabeth, and 6 children: Mary, Sarah, William, Franklin, Isaac, and an infant. Mary was the only one who was not a minor. She was married to Christian KOCH, executor of the estate. (As far as I can determine, he was from a different KOCH line than our Jacob.) Sarah and William were minors over the age of 14. The infant mentioned above must have been Louisa, because on November 11, 1833, Joseph PALM was appointed guardian for Louisa GETZ. At the same time, the court appointed Peter WEITZEL guardian of Isaac GETZ and John PALM guardian of Franklin GETZ. Three days earlier, the court had appointed John KOCH as Sarah's guardian and Joseph PALM as William's guardian.

In the 1860 census of Fairfield Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, the PUTT family was the 70th family, living in dwelling 70; the William GETZ family was family 71, in dwelling 71, and the Isaac GETZ family was not far away, family 78, in dwelling 78. Note that William had a son named Isaac, and that Isaac's son was named Franklin.

I didn't see Isaac in the 1850 census of Fairfield Twp. He would have been only 19 - maybe he was still in Pennsylvania.

The enclosed biography of Daniel STOMM has some interesting information. Daniel was a grandson of William GETZ. It also mentions 2 more PUTT-GETZ marriages, though it doesn't give any information on the PUTTs.

The DeKalb County site lists a lot of marriages - one of them, May 12, 1874 was of Charles PUTT to Sarah E. GETTS.

I don't know that I am going to follow this a whole lot farther - there is too much to keep track of - but I thought it was interesting, and it fills out the background a little.

Biography of Daniel Stomm, page 158 /. 159. History of Northeast Indiana; LaGrange, Steuben, Noble, and DeKalb Counties, Vol. II, under the editorial supervision of Ira Ford, Orville Stevens, William H. McEwen, and William H. McIntosh. The Lewis Publishing Co., Chicago and New York, 1920.

Daniel Stomm. The best way to identify Daniel Stomm with the citizenship of DeKalb County is to say that he is proprietor of Vistawald in Farirfield Township. He was born May 20, 1862, and is now the senior in the house of Stomm in the United States. He looks both backward and forward over two generations of the family of DeKalb County.

The house of Stomm was first established in this country when his uncle, Daniel Stomm, whose name he bears, accompanied by a sister, Margaret Stomm, located in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, in 1851. They were soon followed by the rest of the family from Baden, Germany. In 1854 George Henry Stomm and his family arrived in DeKalb County, after living for a short time in both Pennsylvania and Ohio. The son Daniel, who was a blacksmith in Pittsburg, died there unmarried, but the daughter Margaret came on with the family to the new home in Indiana. When George M. Stomm and wife, Margaret (Holtzworth) Stomm, crossed the Atlantic to join their son and daughter in America, they were accompanied by four children, Henry, Elizabeth, Barbara and Catherine.

Henry, who was the father of Daniel, the present head of the Stomm family, was born in Germany March 24, 1833, and had just attained to manhood when he came to DeKalb County. He had learned the weaver's trade in Germany, but agriculture has been the forte of the Stomm family in this country. The naturalization papers of Henry Stomm are now a matter of record in the DeKalb County court house. Today the history of all that generation of the Stomm family has been written on the tombstone in DeKalb-Steuben County Line Cemetery in Steuben County. The Stomm family name was identified with the German Reformed Church, and in politics the family vote always to democratic candidates.

Henry Stomm married Anna Maria Gettz on January 9, 1856. She had come with her parents, William and Eliza (Hosler) Gettz, from Pennsylvania. Two of her sisters, Sarah and Susannah Putt, who married brothers, are living at Garrett, Indiana. The seven living children born to Henry and Anna Maria Stomm are: Daniel, Elizabeth, Moses, William, Mary, Nora and Clara. Three others deceased were Sarah, Amanda and Cora. The mother died October 1, 1882, and Henry Stomm married Catherine Bickle, who helped rear his younger children.

On January, 1, 1886, Daniel, who, it will be noted, was born about eight years after the family came to DeKalb County, married Nancy Elizabeth Urey. She became the mother of two sons. Voyde G. and Roy C. She died January 3, 1891. On October 10, 1894, Mr. Stomm married Mary M. Borger, of Owen County, Indiana. She is a daughter of Joseph and Emma (Hostetler) Borger, whose eight children were: George M., Costa M., William R., Mary M., Ida A., Esther, Martin J. and Jacob E. An older set of children than these were seven half brothers and sisters bearing the name Borger: Rachel, Benjamin, Levi, David, Elizabeth, Catherine and Sarah.

Three children born to Daniel and Mary M. Stomm are Ralph B., Ruth O. and Emma M. The two older sons, Voyde and Roy, were reared in the same household. Voyde married September 18, 1917, Iva High, and they have one child, Lois M. Roy married, May 31, 1914, Mary Benjamin, and their son, Austin Leroy, and the father Roy, are both now deceased. The son Ralph B. married Theresa M. Hanes December 2, 1917. They have one son, Robert G. Ruth O. was married January 1, 1919, to Hubert Boyd. Lois May and Robert Gerald Stomm are the two representatives of the fifth generation of the Stomm family in DeKalb County.

Since 1887 Daniel Stomm had lived in his present home in Fairfield and today Vistawald is one of the most picturesque and attractive farmsteads in the entire county. The hilltop building site is high and dry, and the home buildings are well set in orchard and small fruit groves. Strawberry culture is a specialty. Spraying and other necessary work is done in season in order to secure high class fruit. A small apiary is maintained

Since 1887 Daniel Stomm had lived in his present home in Fairfield and oday Vistawald is one of the most picturesque and attractive homesteads n the entire county. The hilltop building site is high and dry, and the arm buildings are well set in orchard and small fruit groves. Strawberry ulture is a specialty. Spraying and other necessary work is done in eason in order to secure high class fruit. A small apiary is maintained with the double purpose of honey on the dinner table and the better polenization of fruit. There is a stucco house with full basement story, modern heating, electric lighting and water system, the water being forced into the house by hydraulic ram from a spring that supplies sufficient water for all domestic purposes and for the live stock as well. Winter or summer there is no water to pump and a stream down the hillside from the fountain, encased in cement, has a continuous and bounteous supply.

There is the second basement barn, one having been destroyed by lightning in a storm in which six other barns were burned in the same neighborhood. The silo back of the barn was one of the first built in DeKalb County.

Vistawald is a scene of thrift and contentment and of work in which all members of the family participated. The farmstead is hills and dales and adapted to diversified farming and fruit, live stock and agriculture. There are yet some unfinished plans, the World war delaying some of them, but the traveler will go along way before he finds a more attractive spot in Vistawald.

Clifford Gettz/Getts

Posted by Eckhart Public Library <ebethgen@yahoo.com> on Fri, 03 Dec 1999

Surname: GETTZ, GETTS

Researched and submitted by: Eckhart Public Library ebethgen@yahoo.com and Arlene Goodwin, Auburn, Indiana agoodwin@cltnet.com

Clifford Gettz, 23, son of Wm. Gettz, who at one time lived on the Shoemaker farm north of Waterloo, and now residing northeast of Kendallville, met with a serious accident early last week while cutting timber near Flint, Ind. A heavy limb fell on his head and crushed the skull above his eye. The young man was rendered unconscious and he was rushed to the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett, where the skull was adjusted and a good size piece removed. Since he has been slowly improving and it is believed that he will recover. The young man is a brother of Mrs. Columbus Johnson, who lives near Waterloo. (Re: Waterloo Press Sept. 7, 1922)

Clifford Getts, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Getts, who formerly lived north of town, died at the home of his parents in Fairfield township last Saturday night, as a result of the injuries, sustained just two months prior by a tree falling on him, crushing his skull. It was thought for a time that he was satisfactorily and he was able to be up and around. However, about a week prior to his death he became much worse and death followed. Biography of Henry Stomm, pages 592 / 593. History of De Kalb County, Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885.

Henry Stomm, farmer and stock-raiser, is a native of the Baden, Germany, born march 24, 1833, a son of George and Margaret (Holtzworth) Stomm. When he was fifteen years of age he began to learn the weaver's trade, serving an apprenticeship of three years. He than worked as a journeyman two years when he was drafted into the German army, but before he was mustered in he left the country and came with his parents to the United States. They located in Stark County, Ohio, but in the spring of 1854 he came to De Kalb County, Ind., and bought a tract of land in Fairfield Township, and the following spring sent to Stark County for his parents. His father was born in 1802 and died in 1874. His mother died April 3, 1884, aged eighty-three years. His land was unimproved, but a very little having been cleared of the timber, but he went bravely to work and now has about 160 acres of the best land in the township, all under cultivation. His residence and farm buildings are among the best in the county. He was married Jan. 9, 1856, to Maria Getts, daughter of William and Eliza (Hosler) Getts, early settlers of De Kalb County. To them were born ten children, eight of whom are living---Daniel, Eliza E., Moses, William, Mary L., Nore A. and Cora A. (twins), and Clara A. Sarah C. and Amanda are deceased. Mrs. Stomm died Oct, 1, 1882, and Jan. 22, 1885, Mr. Stomm married Mrs. Catherine Bickle, a native of Berks County, Pa., born in 1838, daughter of Conrad and Mary A. Schreber, and widow of Henry Bickle. Mr. and Mrs. Stomm are members of the German Reform church. In politics he affiliates with the Democratic party.

Biography of Daniel Stomm, page 158 /. 159. History of Northeast Indiana; LaGrange, Steuben, Noble, and DeKalb Counties, Vol. II, under the editorial supervision of Ira Ford, Orville Stevens, William H. McEwen, and William H. McIntosh. The Lewis Publishing Co., Chicago and New York, 1920.

Daniel Stomm. The best way to identify Daniel Stomm with the citizenship of DeKalb County is to say that he is proprietor of Vistawald in Farirfield Township. He was born May 20, 1862, and is now the senior in the house of Stomm in the United States. He looks both backward and forward over two generations of the family of DeKalb County.

The house of Stomm was first established in this country when his uncle, Daniel Stomm, whose name he bears, accompanied by a sister, Margaret Stomm, located in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, in 1851. They were soon followed by the rest of the family from Baden, Germany. In 1854 George Henry Stomm and his family arrived in DeKalb County, after living for a short time in both Pennsylvania and Ohio. The son Daniel, who was a blacksmith in Pittsburg, died there unmarried, but the daughter Margaret came on with the family to the new home in Indiana. When George M. Stomm and wife, Margaret (Holtzworth) Stomm, crossed the Atlantic to join their son and daughter in America, they were accompanied by four children, Henry, Elizabeth, Barbara and Catherine.

Henry, who was the father of Daniel, the present head of the Stomm family, was born in Germany March 24, 1833, and had just attained to manhood when he came to DeKalb County. He had learned the weaver's trade in Germany, but agriculture has been the forte of the Stomm family in this country. The naturalization papers of Henry Stomm are now a matter of record in the DeKalb County court house. Today the history of all that generation of the Stomm family has been written on the tombstone in DeKalb-Steuben County Line Cemetery in Steuben County. The Stomm family name was identified with the German Reformed Church, and in politics the family vote always to democratic candidates.

Henry Stomm married Anna Maria Gettz on January 9, 1856. She had come with her parents, William and Eliza (Hosler) Gettz, from Pennsylvania. Two of her sisters, Sarah and Susannah Putt, who married brothers, are living at Garrett, Indiana. The seven living children born to Henry and Anna Maria Stomm are: Daniel, Elizabeth, Moses, William, Mary, Nora and Clara. Three others deceased were Sarah, Amanda and Cora. The mother died October 1, 1882, and Henry Stomm married Catherine Bickle, who helped rear his younger children.

On January, 1, 1886, Daniel, who, it will be noted, was born about eight years after the family came to DeKalb County, married Nancy Elizabeth Urey. She became the mother of two sons. Voyde G. and Roy C. She died January 3, 1891. On October 10, 1894, Mr. Stomm married Mary M. Borger, of Owen County, Indiana. She is a daughter of Joseph and Emma (Hostetler) Borger, whose eight children were: George M., Costa M., William R., Mary M., Ida A., Esther, Martin J. and Jacob E. An older set of children than these were seven half brothers and sisters bearing the name Borger: Rachel, Benjamin, Levi, David, Elizabeth, Catherine and Sarah.

Three children born to Daniel and Mary M. Stomm are Ralph B., Ruth O. and Emma M. The two older sons, Voyde and Roy, were reared in the same household. Voyde married September 18, 1917, Iva High, and they have one child, Lois M. Roy married, May 31, 1914, Mary Benjamin, and their son, Austin Leroy, and the father Roy, are both now deceased. The son Ralph B. married Theresa M. Hanes December 2, 1917. They have one son, Robert G. Ruth O. was married January 1, 1919, to Hubert Boyd. Lois May and Robert Gerald Stomm are the two representatives of the fifth generation of the Stomm family in DeKalb County.

Since 1887 Daniel Stomm had lived in his present home in Fairfield and today Vistawald is one of the most picturesque and attractive farmsteads in the entire county. The hilltop building site is high and dry, and the home buildings are well set in orchard and small fruit groves. Strawberry culture is a specialty. Spraying and other necessary work is done in season in order to secure high class fruit. A small apiary is maintained with the double purpose of honey on the dinner table and the better polenization of fruit. There is a stucco house with full basement story, modern heating, electric lighting and water system, the water being forced into the house by hydraulic ram from a spring that supplies sufficient water for all domestic purposes and for the live stock as well. Winter or summer there is no water to pump and a stream down the hillside from the fountain, encased in cement, has a continuous and bounteous supply.

There is the second basement barn, one having been destroyed by lightning in a storm in which six other barns were burned in the same neighborhood. The silo back of the barn was one of the first built in DeKalb County.

Vistawald is a scene of thrift and contentment and of work in which all members of the family participated. The farmstead is hills and dales and adapted to diversified farming and fruit, live stock and agriculture. There are yet some unfinished plans, the World war delaying some of them, but the traveler will go along way before he finds a more attractive spot in Vistawald.

Here are the photo's and information that I have so far. Sorry it took so long for me to get back to you. I hope to finish scanning photos and articles before spring gets here.

If you have any questions, just e-mail me. Sorry for the delay.

Carolyn Garman

P.S. The photos I've sent along will be on the CD when I get finished. They are a lot larger and take forever to send by e-mail. I hope to find more of the head-stones this summer. I've started a file with photo's of them.

They dug out the NYC tracks in January, 1918

IT WAS 27 BELOW zero on Jan. 12, 1918, when the men below cleared the Frick Hill tracks of the Fort Wayne and Jackson Branch of the New York Central Railroad north of Waterloo. The drift was about 1500 feet long and reached a depth of 18 feet. C. R. McIntosh, of Waterloo, recalls working Friday and Saturday nights until midnight, all day Sunday and Monday until 3 p.m. on tracks in the area with the assistance of a double-headed engine-snowplow. Left to right in the photo were William Getts, Ford McIntosh, George Racey, Ed Crowl, William Latson, foreman; A. Kennedy, S. Kohl, and C. R. McIntosh. The picture was taken by Devon Bartholomew who was killed later in an airplane crash. McIntosh said he found the photo while "cleaning some of the trash out of a desk. I am getting ready to go into a rest home." He didn't say where.

Northumberland County Worthies. - JOHN SIMPSON, an early resident of Sunbury, Pa., was a Scotchman by birth, but the time of his advent into this world has not come down to us. The Scottish family from which he descended possessed the Earldom of Linlithgow in the sixteenth century. When John SIMPSON came to this country is unknown, but it must have been quite early, as he was commissioned Register and Recorder of Northumberland county, March 29th, 1777, succeeding the distinguished William MACLAY, who was the first. He performed the duties of the office more than twenty years and his plain bold handwriting is spread over many volumes of the early Deed Books at Sunbury.

John SIMPSON married Ann THOMPSON, a lady of English parentage. Jeremiah, their son, was born October 10, 1773, and died August 11, 1829. He was commissioned as Register and Recorder July 24, 1798, and served until 1805. He married Mary, daughter of Henry VANDERSLICE, of Berks Co. and they had four sons and five daughters. One of their sons Jesse M.M. was elected treasurer of Northumberland county in 1848 and served one term.

The time of the death of John SIMPSON is not known, but the date must have been early as the date of his settlement came after his son Jeremiah was born in Autumn of 1773 when the PENNs yet had control of affairs.

INTRODUCTION

Lancaster County was formed on 10 May 1729 out of Chester County, one of the original counties of the colony, which had been created in November 1682. As originally constituted Lancaster contained the present-day counties of Franklin, York, Adams, Berks, Dauphin, Lebanon and Cumberland. Most counties in the southern tier of Pennsylvania can trace their origins and earliest records to Lancaster. The boundary of southern Lancaster County was in dispute with Maryland until the Mason-Dixon Line was drawn. Territory incorporated in Lancaster County was obtained from the Susquehannock and Delaware Amerindian tribes in 1718, 1720 and 1726; and from the Five Nations in 1736.

Nearly all studies of the Pennsylvania-Kentucky long rifle assume that this distinctively American rifle was invented in Lancaster County sometime in the second quarter of the eighteenth century. It was not a sudden development, but represented an evolution from the German jaeger [hunter] rifle, long is use in Middle Europe. The earliest dated rifle located so far was made by John Schreidt and dated 1761. Doubtless, other guns should be dated properly at least twenty-five years earlier.

The principal American contributions came in lengthening the barrel, to an average of forty-four inches, and substituting the hinged metallic patchbox lid for the sliding wooden lid used on jaeger rifles. Relief carving, especially in the barrel tang area and in the space to the rear of the cheekpiece was common on European sporting arms. American craftsmen built upon that foundation, and used rococo C scrolls in both bas relief and incised variations on their cottage industry arms. They added coin silver inlays up the stock's fore-end and on the cheekpiece. Cheekpiece decorations were usually in the form of the hunter's star or an oval on which an eagle was engraved. A coin silver thumbpiece on the top of the wrist was occasionally engraved with the original owner's initials. The original two piece (lid and finial) patchbox soon developed into a four piece arrangement, with the addition of side-arms above and below the lid. Usually, each of the four pieces was treated as a separate entity for the purposes of engraving and decoration.

We find a number of pre-Revolutionary War gunsmiths who made have made Pennsylvania-Kentucky long rifles. We have no idea what the early Baker rifles may have looked like, c. 1720. The name most frequently associated with the development of the long rifle is Martin Meylin, but his involvement in gun making is subject to question, the marker placed on what is reputed to be his shop by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania notwithstanding. The known Martin Meylin rifle is not a long rifle. The few William Henry, Sr., guns known are all military types, but that is to be expected because of his long association with military organizations, beginning with the ill-fated Braddock expedition against the French at Fort DuQuesne [later Fort Pitt]. William Henry and his father John Henry, Sr., were also associated with the trade with the native aborigine and the trade guns would have been plain arms resembling French, English and Dutch trade arms. Henry Weaver, Jacob Weber, John Burt, James Snoddy and others were probably Indian traders who assembled commercial parts and repaired arms for the Amerindians. But Matthias Roesser had state of the art equipment and may have made long rifles. The problem, of course, rests with the paucity of signed and/or dated guns that we can study.

By the time of the Revolution we have true Pennsylvania-Kentucky rifles being produced in Lancaster County. Among the fine artisans of this period whose work is known are John Philip Beck, Jacob Messersmith, Jacob Dickert, George Frederick Fainot and Jacob Graeff. The war interrupted the production of civilian arms and the gunsmiths turned their attention to making military muskets. The patriotic Lancaster tradesmen agreed to make muskets because these arms were easier to make and were more sorely needed by the Continental Line than rifles. They graciously agreed to accept "Philadelphia prices" for their work done on behalf of the patriot cause. After the war civilian production began again.

Joe Kindig, Jr., whose collection of long rifles is unparalleled, was also the author of a monumental study of the long rifle, Thoughts on the Kentucky Rifle in its Golden Age (1960). He wrote on the arms produced from just before the Revolution through about 1830. In the eastern Pennsylvania counties the golden age was all but over by 1830. We mark golden age guns by their superior lines, carving, engraving and decoration. When the percussion cap began to replace the older flintlock, c. 1830, the demand for high art guns had all but disappeared. But the majority of Lancaster gunsmiths worked largely or exclusively in the later, decadent period. It is hard to think of the beautifully engraved, if not carved, arms of several of the Gumpf and Fordney families, and others, as decadent. It is merely that the style had changed.

Unlike Philadelphia and York counties, Lancaster county rarely was involved in the production of military contract arms after 1800. The 1803 petition of Lancaster gunsmiths [appendix] notwithstanding, few military contracts of any importance or size were let in Lancaster. Henry Leman probably made more contract arms, primarily cheap arms for the Indian trade, than all other Lancaster arms makers combined. Leman also probably made more of the "guns that won the west" than all plains rifle makers of St. Louis combined; and far more than Winchester or other cartridge arms makers. But Leman did not adapt to the new fashion and made no cartridge guns. By 1880 the gunsmith's trade was essentially finished in Lancaster. Late Lancaster arms, largely half-stock guns, are as plentiful as the earlier, high art guns are rare. When we consider how many gunsmiths there were working in the golden age it is surprising how few quality Lancaster guns we have located.

The Lancaster gun has been studied by many people, including Kindig. Captain John Dillin's The Kentucky Rifle (1924) was the first major study on long rifles. Henry Kauffman published his The Pennsylvania-Kentucky Rifle (1960), the first statewide study of gunmaking in the Commonwealth, with Samuel E. Dyke's assistance on Lancaster County. Colonel Gardner compiled four national listings of American gunsmiths, culminating in Small Arms Makers (1963), which listed many Lancaster arms makers. Samuel E. Dyke had distributed a list of Lancaster County gunsmiths which developed into The Pennsylvania Rifle (1974). We began our investigation with a list compiled from the earlier published works. In all of these books we found names listed as arms makers in Lancaster County which we could not verify using the original sources available to us. As examples, we found the Eaby family listed as gunsmiths whereas the tax records showed them as plough makers. Andrew Eaby, represented by a fine, pre-Revolutionary War arm, was a gunsmith near Hagerstown, Maryland. George Carolus was listed as a gunsmith, although tax records showed him as a clerk, and later as the owner, of a general store initially operated by a man named Gunton. Peter Leman was neither shown as a gunsmith in public records, nor was he an ancestor of arms manufacturer Henry E. Leman. In other cases we located original source materials in the American Archives [illegible] the Pennsylvania Archives proving that certain men were arms makers, but we located nothing associating them with Lancaster.

In preparing this manuscript we utilized only original source materials, including deeds; estate inventories and wills; tax lists; city, state and regional directories; United States censuses; and church records. Most dates of birth were gathered from U.S. Census records. The U.S. Censuses are not especially helpful before 1850, in which year the ages, occupations, and other information not available heretofore, were recorded. Most dates of death and a few birth dates were obtained from church records, notably of Trinity Lutheran Church and the Moravian Burial Book; and from newspaper obituaries. Lancaster County histories yielded very little material except on Henry Leman. We also located significant new material on the early period in the Pennsylvania Archives and the American Archives. The few documented apprenticeships, found mostly in the American Archives, are disappointing because few of these individuals can be documented as gunsmiths in later years. There are six apprentice gunsmiths listed on a militia roll dated 16 July 1776, but only two are known to have practiced the trade later.

During the Revolution a number of tradesmen from allied crafts were drafted into service in arms production. Blacksmiths, iron mongers and founders, silver- and goldsmiths, blacksmiths and even clock- and watchmakers assisted in forging the arms that carried the day for the patriot forces.

We located a number of tradesmen who worked in Lancaster County in areas allied to the gunsmithing trade. Many gun barrel manufacturers worked in the mid-nineteenth century. All one needed to practice this trade was a forge, a ready supply of iron skelps [flat iron sheets from which the barrels were forged] and a healthy constitution to work at such an arduous trade. Some gunsmiths made their own barrels. Later guns usually had barrels manufactured by specialists in that trade. Lock makers practiced their trade, although it is virtually impossible to distinguish between gun lock and door lock makers. Some lock makers may have manufactured both types of locks. We have seen several gunlocks signed with the name Schweitzer which we believe were made in Lancaster. Some gunsmiths, especially in the years before 1800, made their own gunlocks. Most gun locks were imported from England or Belgium. There was a recognized school of Lancaster powder horn makers who turned out attractive powder carrying implements by lathe-turning cow horns. Some of their production had mirrors placed on the broad end. These, it is assumed, were intended for the Indian trade.

There is the legitimate question of what the scope of our study ought to be. Lancaster was formed out of Chester, an original county of the Province of Pennsylvania, on 10 May 1729. Several of the Bakers, gunsmiths in the Pequea Valley, had worked and died before the formation of the county. In addition there were Indian traders of the Conestoga and Donegal schools, men of generally low character, like John Burt and Jonas Davenport, many of whom were gun repairers, if not gun makers. When Lancaster was diminished by the formation of other counties, notably Berks [1752], Dauphin [1785] and Lebanon [1813], there were gunsmiths working in these territories. John Philip Beck is one of the best known gunsmiths of the immediate post-Revolutionary period. He worked in Lebanon Township, Lancaster County until his death. Most collectors assume that Beck, and his late apprentice Nicholas Beyer [Byer], to be Lancaster, not Lebanon, school gunsmiths.

Several of the post-Revolutionary gunsmiths moved to Maryland. The sons of Peter Roesser [Resor] are notable. Others migrated to Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and on west.

We would like to acknowledge the assistance of many people whose gracious assistance made this study possible. First, we acknowledge the contributions of the Lancaster County Historical Society. This organization has preserved the original tax records, estate inventories, orphan court proceedings and other important early records. Dr. George Alfred Shumway, publisher of quality gun books, loaned us several sets of negatives of guns. So did the dean of arms researchers, Mr. Wester A. White. Many people made their guns available to use to photograph. It is reasonable that these people should expect that

His shop was located at 334 N. Price St., Lancaster. [Boyd's Lancaster Dir., 1857; Barnes' Lancaster Directories of 1871-72, 1873-74 and 1875-76].

William Frenniman. gunsmith. On 12 October 1776 the Lancaster Committee of Safety excused William Frenniman from militia duty in order to continue to work with Jacob Graeff, gunsmith. The Continental Congress had excused gunsmiths and allied craftsmen from militia service, along with their apprentices. Frenniman was Graeff's apprentice. [5 Amer Arch 2 at 1008].

William Fries (1824-). gunsmith. William Fries was shown as a gunsmith in Lancaster city, aged 26 years [U.S. Census of 1850].

John Getz. John Getz, Sr., was listed as a silversmith in 1813 and 1816, and as a tinsmith in 1823, in the Lancaster city tax lists. The Pennsylvania Archives listed John Getz as a gunsmith in 1779 [3 Pa Arch 17 at 607], but this occupational listing does not correspond to originals in the files of the Lancaster Historical Society. He was taxed on the gunsmith's trade in 1833. The inventory of John Getz, Sr., late of Lancaster city, was taken on 4 December 1841. It showed one grindstone, a lot of tools and a bench, and household goods, all valued at only $31. The tax lists of the period showed a John Getz, coppersmith and tinplater; and a John Getz, Jr., bookbinder, in the early 1800s in Lancaster.

Peter Getz (-1810). silversmith and gunsmith. Lancaster city. From 1803 through 1807 Getz was inspector of small arms made on government contracts under U.S. Purveyor of Public Supplies, Tench Coxe. On 10 July 1810 Gustavus Stoey [Stoy] was authorized to obtain from the Widow Getz any arms, or parts thereof. Getz was listed as a silversmith in Lancaster city based on tax lists [Gerstell, Silversmiths of Lancaster, pp. 26-35].

The estate of Peter Getz was catalogued by Jacob Hess and Martin Shreiner on 24 July 1810. The inventory showed a number of tools, and the total valuation was only $49.70.

Henry Gibbs (1788-1843). gunsmith. Henry Gibbs was called a gunsmith in the tax lists of 1811 through 1837 in Lancaster city. In 1811 he was called a freeman gunsmith and in 1820 he acquired land and was called a freeholder gunsmith. Henry Gibbs died at the age of 54 years, 10 months and 23 days, and that he was buried on 2 April 1843. [Lancaster Holy Trinity Lutheran Church Records] Henry's will, which was proved on 10 April 1843, listed these children: Henry, Abraham, Emaline and John Frederick. The inventory of "all the goods & chattels, rights & credits which were of Henry Gibbs, Gunsmith, late of the City of Lancaster ..." taken on 10 April 1843 showed that Gibbs was still a practicing gunsmith at the time of his death. The inventory of Gibbs' shop included:

42 Rifles, Shot-guns, Smooth bores, finished and unfinished,	$350
6 old Shot Gun Barrels,	$3
1 Turning Lathe,	$5

Henry Gibbs, Jr. (1821-). gunsmith. Henry Gibbs, Jr., was a son of Henry Gibbs, I, and was named in the latter's will. The U.S. Census of 1850 showed Henry Gibbs, aged 27 years. He gave his age as 39 in the census of 1860 and as

Foreword

In 1864 the Pennsylvania legislature passed an act directing the Surveyor General to compile a list of all property held by location or other office right issued from the Land Department of the Commonwealth, where no patent had been issued therefor. Act of May 20, 1864, P.L. 814. The Act required the prothonotary of every county within the Commonwealth to enter on each unpatented tract a lien representing any fees due the Commonwealth and to publish a list of these properties in local newspapers.

In 1868 the legislature amended the Act to eliminate the publication provision. Act of April 4, 1868, P.L. 27. Instead, the Act required the prothonotary of every county to establish and maintain a "Land Lien Docket" which contained lists of all unpatented and patented lands upon which there was money due the Commonwealth. These dockets included the name of the original warrantee or actual original settler and known subsequent owners, the location of the land, the date of the original warrant, the quantity of land involved and the amount of money due the Commonwealth. Accordingly, the Land Lien Docket, to the extent that it identified unpatented tracts of land, provided a valuable supplement to land patent records.

These abstracts, containing information from the Land Lien Docket of Berks County, Pennsylvania, have been arranged in the following manner. In the first and second columns appear the name of the warrantee and warrant number. When the warrant dated prior to the formation of Berks County in 1752, the county where the land then was located appears in the third column, in which the following abbreviations were used:

B - Bucks County
C - Chester County
E - East District
L - Lancaster County
P - Philadelphia County
N - Northampton County.

In the fourth column appears the date of the warrant; in the fifth column, the amount of land for which the warrantee applied. The penultimate column lists the name of the township or geographical area in which the land was located and uses the following abbreviations for township names:

Alb - Albany
All - Allemengel
Als - Alsace
Ami - Amity
Ber - Bern
Bet - Bethel
Bre - Brecknock
Cae - Caernarvon
Cen - Centre
Col - Colebrookdale
Cum - Cumru

Where description of the land location referred to adjoining property owners or watercourses rather than townships, an asterisk (*) will be found. The numbers following the asterisk refer to the explanations noted in Appendix "A".

The final column denotes the classification of the warrant by using the following symbols:

A - Applications
B - Applications for which surveys had not been returned
C - Warrants for which surveys had not been returned
E - Excess survey
M - Mortgages

N - Not specified or delineated clearly in the docket.

For example, two entries in this abstract read as follows:

Ebling, John	106	-	10 Dec 1821	5	UpT	C
Roerbach, George	992	-	1 Oct 1765	30	Her	A

In the first example, the warrantee was John Ebling; the warrant had a number of 106. The land was located in Berks County at that time. The warrant was dated December 10, 1821. The warrantee applied for five acres, and the survey for the warrant had not been returned. In the second example, the warrantee was George Roerbach. The warrant had a number of 992, and the land was located in Berks County at that time. The warrant was dated October 1, 1765. The warrantee applied for 30 acres, located in Hereford Township. The record was an application.

An index to the patented land records of Berks County can be examined in the State Archives, Division of Land Records, Harrisburg.

SOURCES

THE INFORMATION USED IN THIS INDEX HAS BEEN RECORDED FROM FOUR BOOKS OWNED BY THE TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH OF READING, PENNSYLVANIA. THE EARLY LEDGERS BEAR NAMES FROM ALL PARTS OF BERKS COUNTY DUE TO THE FACT THAT PASTORS SERVED MORE THAN ONE CHURCH AND ACCOUNTS WERE KEPT AT THE CENTRAL CHURCH. THE DATA FROM 1751 TO 1812 WAS BASED ON THE TRANSLATION MADE BY REV. JOHN WILLIAM EARLY (1835-1918). ALL ADDITIONAL INFORMATION WAS OBTAINED FROM THE ORIGINAL LEDGERS WHICH WERE RECORDED IN THREE VOLUMES: 1813-1838, 1839-1854, 1855- 1904. ENTRIES MADE FROM 1813 TO 1849 WERE ALMOST ENTIRELY IN GERMAN SCRIPT AND YOUR INDULGENCE IS REQUESTED IF SOME ERRORS IN TRANSLATION HAVE BEEN MADE. THIS FORMIDABLE TASK WAS AN EFFORT TO MAKE A WEALTH OF KNOWLEDGE AVAILABLE TO ALL HOWEVER THE ABILITY TO INTERPRET THE INFORMATION WAS AT TIMES BEYOND THE SCOPE OF OUR BEST EFFORTS TO READ GERMAN AND DECIFER THE HANDWRITING.

A NEW INDEX

LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

BEFORE THE FEDERAL CENSUS

VOLUME I

INDEX TO THE 1780 TAX RECORDS

REYNOLDS HISTORICAL
GENEALOGY COLLECTION

BY

GARY T. HAWBAKER

AND

HOW TO USE THIS VOLUME

This index contains 4,430 names of the taxables who lived in Lancaster County prior to the Federal Census of 1790. There are seventeen townships included as well as the borough of Lancaster. Those divisions are listed here along with the number of inhabitants who were taxed.

Brecknock	131	Lancaster Borough	596
Caernarvon	121	Lancaster Township	70
Cocalico	437	Leacock	252
Colerain	105	Manheim	144
Donegal	266	Manor	281
Earl	465	Mount Joy	158
Elizabeth	92	Sadsbury	98
Hempfield	249	Strasburg	293
Lampeter	245	Warwick	427

We cannot stress strongly enough that to use this index to your best advantage you must check all variations of the spelling of the family name. The people taking the taxes were NOT careful with their spelling and the spelling of a family name varied on the individual lists as well as from township to township. The name we know as Brubaker appears as Brubacher, Brubacker, and even as Prupacker. Eshelman appears as Ashelman. Bair is spelled in many ways also--Baer, Bare, and Bear to mention a few. In retaining the original spellings from the tax lists we have tried to avoid any possible misinterpretation of a name and leave it up to the researcher to further check the original records of other years if necessary, to verify a family name.

This index contains not only the name of the individual taxed, but also the township or borough of residence (PL), the year from which the record was taken (YR), the taxable's classification (CLS), an indication of oath of allegiance to the Commonwealth if this information is given (ALG), the person's trade if noted by the tax collector (TRADE), and additional comments made by the tax collector or in some cases by the editors (COMMENTS). Editorial comments are found in parentheses with an ED notation.

A note about the classification of persons: not every tax collector indicated whether a person was a land owner or a renter (inmate). Therefore in some cases we have avoided trying to classify persons (such as Lancaster Borough and Strasburg). In some instances, (such as Lampeter and Manor) we tried to infer from the taxes paid whether a person was landed or not, but since this was a matter of surmise, we discontinued the practice. In all cases, the single men were listed separately.

In the case of indications of oath of allegiance, various townships used different methods of showing this information. In order to be as true as possible to the originals, we have used the same character or an abbreviation.

The education of Mr. Witmer was obtained in the district schools, and until his marriage he resided with his parents. Following this event, he began farming on his own account on his father's land, operating the home farm for three years, moving then to his well-cultivated farm of twenty-seven acres, upon which he has remained until the present time. Mr. Witmer belongs to the Republican party. His religious connection is with the German Baptist Church.

On Dec. 23, 1880, Mr. Witmer was married (first) in Manheim, Pa., to Miss Malinda B. Garman, born in Mt. Joy township, who died May 1, 1895 and was buried in Mt. Tunnel cemetery. She was a daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Garman, the former of whom was a carpenter in Lancaster county, where both he and wife died. On Feb. 2, 1897, Mr. Witmer was married (second) in Mt. Joy township, to Miss Susan Kauffman, born in Penn township in 1863, daughter of Abraham and Catherine (McMullen) Kauffman, of Lancaster county. Mr. Kauffman was a carpenter by trade and was a much respected man. His death occurred in 1880, at the age of forty-two years, his wife having died in 1872, at the age of thirty-four years. They both were laid to rest in White Oak Church cemetery. Their children were: Monroe, who is a carpenter, in Brennerville; Lizzie, who married Samuel Ritter and lives in Springfield, Ohio; James, who resides in Rapho township; Henry, a farmer near Pennville, Pa.; Nathaniel, who lives in Lancaster; Katie, married to Philip Waterman, of Rickersville, Pa.; and Susan, the youngest of the family, who became Mrs. Witmer. Mr. and Mrs. Witmer have no children.

Mr. Witmer is an excellent farmer, a good neighbor and a first-class citizen. He and his estimable wife have a large circle of warm friends in their community.

DANIEL S. VON NIEDA. As proprietor of one of the most popular summer hotels of Lancaster county, Daniel S. Von Nieda has become acquainted not only with many citizens of Ephrata, but with a great number of intelligent and agreeable people from various States, who have found in him a model host and genial gentleman whom they are glad to call friend. The "Ephrata Springs Mountain House," located at Ephrata, is one of the most delightful summer resorts in that locality, situated near the summit of Ephrata mountain, in the midst of a large park of some 200 shade trees, and supplied with the pure and invigorating water of Ephrata Springs, which by many are considered very medicinal.

Daniel S. Von Nieda was born Dec. 23, 1844, son of the late Jacob and Catherine (Swartz) Von Nieda, of Cocalico township. The first of the Von Nieda family to arrive in America, were six brothers and one sister, namely: George, Martin, Jacob, Philip, Casper, Daniel and Catharine who left the Pfalz on the Rhine called Grammerchen in 1771. Of these Jacob settled at Adamstown, Lancaster county, Pa. Jacob was the father of John, Rudy, Philip (2nd), Jacob (2nd), Henry, Elizabeth, Magdalena, Annarie, and Catharine (2nd). Of the above Philip (2nd) was the father of the following children: Solomon, Philip (3rd), Jacob (3rd), Elizabeth, Susanna, and William, all of whom have passed away.

In 1842 Jacob Von Nieda (3), son of Philip (2), married Catherine Swartz, a daughter of Jacob and Mary (Pannabecker) Swartz, and to them were born five children: Daniel S.; Jacob L., born in 1849, who died in childhood; J. Wesley, born in 1853, who married Sallie Boger, of Reading, Pa., and is a printer by trade; Mary Emma, born in 1856, who married Rev. M. A. Salt, of Oberlin, Pa., a minister of prominence in the United Brethren Church; and Richard W., born in 1858, a printer and publisher in Reading.

Daniel S. Von Nieda was reared on a farm in his youth, and received his education in the public schools of Adamstown, beginning his business career as a photographer. During the Civil war he served eleven months as a drummer boy in the 195th P. V. I. In 1877 he started the Ephrata Review, the first newspaper published in Ephrata, in which enterprise his brother, J. Wesley Von Nieda, was associated with him. In 1881 he purchased the "Mountain House" at Ephrata, and for the last twenty years has been its successful proprietor, making it one of the most desirable resorts in that part of the State. On account of the vigilance which Mr. Von Nieda constantly exerts, and also his known pronounced prohibition views, this hotel has justly gained a reputation for respectability which makes it much sought after by those of refined and exclusive tastes.

On Oct. 24, 1869, Daniel S. Von Nieda was married to Miss Sallie S. Zartman, a daughter of William and Annie (Singer) Zartman, and five sons have been born to this union, all of them children of whom their parents have reason to feel proud. These children are: Oscar L., born Jan. 27, 1871, who married Miss Sarah H. Landis, and is a farmer in Ephrata; John W., born Dec. 15, 1873, an electrician; Harry J., born March 27, 1876, who is editor of the Ephrata Reporter, and resides at home; Robert D., born Aug. 16, 1880, who assists his father; and Walter H., born Oct. 23, 1883, at home.

As a business man and excellent citizen, Mr. Von Nieda stands high in the community, and socially he is known as a charitable and benevolent neighbor as well as a true Christian gentleman.

NOAH L. GETZ. The first member of the Getz family to locate in Lancaster county, Pa., where for many years its representatives have lived honest and honorable lives, was John Jacob Getz, who came to America, in the good ship "Dolphin," and landed in Philadelphia in 1738, his home having been in Pfalz, Germany. After a short residence in this country, he went back to Germany, but finally returned and located in Lancaster county, settling on Chestnut Hill and occupying a large extent of country, some 400 or 500 acres of the choicest land of this fertile county. Of an enterprising and progressive spirit, he favored many measures for public improvement, and in every way testified to the confidence he had in the future of the great country where he had found a hospitable home.

The family born to this emigrant forefather consisted of many daughters and one son, Jacob, who became the great-grandfather of the present representatives of the name in Lancaster county. Great-grandfather Jacob Getz owned the old homestead, and in 1818, after making proper provision for his numerous sisters, he built upon the place a large brick house and barn and suitable outbuildings, and also erected a barn upon the farm which is now in the possession of Noah L. On this same place in 1822 he built a house and also put up some buildings at the "Black Horse Hotel." The records show that he was a man of fertile mind and considerable capacity, followed farming successfully and carried on a business in the manufacture of whip stocks, which were sold in Philadelphia. His family consisted of five sons: John, George, Peter, Harry, and Jacob: the large estate was divided between them, and all settled and married in that locality except George, who was of a more adventurous and restless spirit.

Grandfather John Getz was born June 19, 1790, and died Nov. 18, 1842. He married Magdalina Gross, who was born Dec. 2, 1795, and died June 15, 1857. They owned 113 acres of the old homestead, together with thirty-seven acres of timber land, all of which now belongs to Noah L. Getz. During his life John Getz filled a number of situations acceptably, being engaged in general farming, while he also taught school, and was called upon to serve as clerk at sales, his ability putting him far in advance of his neighbors. His family consisted of a daughter, Lydia, and a son, Levi, the father of our subject.

Levi Getz was born Dec. 28, 1827, and passed out of life Feb. 20, 1896. His wife was a representative of another old and well-known, as well as numerous, family of Lancaster county, Maria L. Landis, of Manheim township. After his marriage, in 1849, he succeeded to the property and became not only a prosperous farmer, but a noted stock raiser; buying only thoroughbred stock and raising fine specimens of Holsteins, Shorthorns, Jerseys, and Devons, he was one of the leaders in this progressive industry in the county. The great and luxuriant meadows of Lancaster county made the raising of fine cattle and stock a very profitable business, and Levi Getz was so encouraged that he went into the business of improving his other stock also, introducing some of the best strains of hogs ever brought to Lancaster county.

For a number of years he was one of the directors in the Lancaster County National Bank and so much confidence was placed in him that he was selected, at the death of Benjamin Landis, his father-in-law, to become the guardian of the estate, and never was a trust more carefully fulfilled, or a great business matter better adjusted. Two children were born to Levi Getz and his wife; Hiram L., a successful practicing physician of Marshalltown, Iowa; and Noah L.

Dr. Hiram Landis Getz was born Nov. 14, 1850, in East Hempfield township, Lancaster county. His early education was gained in the schools of that region and then followed his professional studies in Philadelphia, where he was connected with various hospitals, was assistant and student under the noted surgeon, Dr. R. J. Levis, and was graduated from the Jefferson Medical College in 1874. He located at Marshalltown, Iowa.

In addition to his regular professional work, the doctor has been at various times connected with life and accident companies; has been county physician for Marshall county; is chief surgeon for the Iowa Central Railroad and is connected with a number of other Western roads; was for three years a professor in the Iowa College of Physicians and Surgeons; and has held other professional positions in the state, too numerous to mention. Dr. Getz is a frequent contributor to medical and surgical journals and has invented a number of instruments and conveniences for professional use. Besides being prominent in various State societies, he was elected president of the International Association of Railway Surgeons, 1900-01. In politics Dr. Getz is independent; he has served on many State boards and as postmaster of Marshalltown, always introducing many improvements and reforms.

On May 27, 1874, Dr. Getz married Miss Mary E. Worley, and they have two children: N. Worley, also a physician; and Igerna M.

Noah L. Getz was born April 9, 1852, and was reared on the farm and received his education in the public schools, having the advantages of a short term at the Manheim Academy. On Jan. 6, 1876, he was married to Fannie H. Roher, of East Hempfield, who was born Nov. 28, 1856, and to them were born these children: Ferry R., a very bright young man, born in 1877, graduated from Marshall College, of Lancaster City, in the class of 1901; Noah R., born in 1879, educated in the common schools and at present a student in the International School of Correspondence, at Scranton, Pa.; Mable R., born in 1881, educated at the Manheim High School and graduated in the class of 1899; Annis R., born in 1882, who died in 1886; John R., born in 1883, a student in the Manheim high school; Maria R., born in 1885; Henry R., born in 1887; and Roher, born in 1891.

This traces the Getz family in one line, and other information tells of the will of John Jacob, which was made in 1803, and mentions that his son Jacob was one of the keepers of the "Black Horse Hotel." and evidently erected the same. It is interesting to trace family connections with old landmarks and much might be written which the limits of this biography would not permit.

When Noah L. Getz began life for himself he was twenty-six years old, and he and his wife settled on a tract of 120 acres of land which he had purchased from his father; and upon this place he has made his home, and added many valuable improvements, in 1879 erecting tobacco sheds and several smaller buildings, and in 1890 erecting a fine modern brick residence, which is one of the most attractive homes in the county. In April, 1896, he succeeded to the old homestead, at which time he remodeled the buildings and now has one of the largest as well as one of the best equipped farms in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Getz was the recipient of a fine property, almost adjoining the homestead, which was presented to her on her birthday, in 1899, the two together placing in the family the largest farm in Lancaster county. Mr. Getz has dealt largely in tobacco, also in walnut lumber, and is one of the largest dealers in stock and cattle in the county. Prominent in many ways, he is a member and stockholder in the Lititz Turnpike Co., and is considered one of the best representative men of Lancaster county.

JAMES M. WILSON, a retired farmer of East Drumore township, was born in York county, Pa., July 8, 1822, son of John and Charlotte (Watt) Wilson.

John Wilson was born in York county in 1796, and his wife was born in Chester county in 1795. John was the son of James and Eleanor (Hutchinson) Wilson, who were born in York and Chester counties respectively, and who reared a family of five children, three sons and two daughters: John, father of our subject; James, who moved to Ohio, and died there; David, who lived and died on the old homestead in York county; Elizabeth, who died unmarried in York county; and Margaret, who became the wife of John Collins, who died in York county.

John Wilson, father of our subject, first settled on a farm in York county, but in 1824 he moved to the southern part of Lancaster county, where he followed farming until his death in July, 1886, in his ninety-first year; his wife died at their home in 1874. They were members of the United Presbyterian church and were devout Christians. They left two sons: James and John D., the latter (who is unmarried) being a prominent and wealthy man of Lancaster county, whose early life was spent as a farmer, but who afterward engaged as a merchant in Drumore township; so continuing until 1861 when he was appointed deputy sheriff, and moved to Lancaster; he has also held several other offices, and is now living retired.

James M. Wilson grew to manhood on his father's farm, and was educated in the public schools. He remained on the farm until his marriage, in November, 1876, to Miss Jane Thompson, daughter of Miller and Mary (Watt) Thompson, pioneers of Lancaster county. Mr. Wilson located on his father's homestead where he remained until the spring of 1884, when he purchased his present fine farm which joins the borough of Quarryville. It is one of the well cultivated and desirable places of the section, and has a large brick residence and fine out buildings of all kinds. It was here that Mr. Wilson's first wife died, in 1892, leaving no children. In 1893 Mr. Wilson married for his second wife, Mrs. Harriet E. (Thompson) Campbell, widow of Dr. John C. Campbell, who in life was a prominent physician of the county. Mrs. Wilson was born Jan. 14, 1844, in Colerain township, whither her parents, George B. and Mary (Snyder) Thompson, of Chester county, had moved. The lady is well educated, and for twenty years was a teacher in the public schools. She had two children by her first husband: Anna D., born in 1869, who married Walter Scott, and has one child, Helen E.; and Bailey C., born in 1872, who is now a resident of Harrisburg, and has one son, John. Mrs. Wilson is the granddaughter of Francis and Mary (Black) Thompson, and her maternal great-grandparents were George and Hannah (Ross) Black, while her paternal great-grandparents were Col. James and Lydia F. (Bailey) Thompson, of Revolutionary fame. Col. James Thompson was born in Sadsbury township in 1745, and died in the same township in February, 1807. His wife, Lydia F. Bailey, was born in 1750, and died in 1806. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have no children. In religion they are members of the United Presbyterian church, of which both he and his brother have been strong supporters for a number of years. His father, John Wilson, was one of the early members of the United Presbyterian church of Martic township, and attended it for many years, holding various offices in it. Mr. Wilson has also filled positions of trust and honor in the same church, and is one of its foremost members. Volumes might be written of his Christian benevolence and charity. He is a man of integrity and honor, and well thought of by all who know him.

HENRY CLAY GEMPERLING, the popular court crier, lives in a beautiful home which he has erected on a part of the estate owned by his father, the late Daniel Gemperling, on East Orange street, near Ann street, in Lancaster.

Jacob Gemperling, grandfather of Henry Clay, who was a distiller and a farmer, was born near Rohrerstown; his son Daniel, who was born in Lancaster, died Nov. 13, 1895, at the age of eighty-seven years. The latter and his brother John, were the leading tinsmiths of the city for many years, filling many important contracts. Daniel Gemperling conducted the business on East Orange street alone to within a short time of his death, and became one of the best-known citizens of his time, owning a

LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, TAX LISTS

By DR. ALBERT H. GERBERICH, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

(Copyright by National Genealogical Society, 1933)

From the erection of Lancaster Co. Pa. until 1730 the complete assessment lists were copied by the late Dr. Gilbert Cope of West Chester and are on file at the Gen. Soc. of Pa. in Philadelphia. From 1771 to 1786 they are printed in the Pa. Archives, Series III. That leaves a gap of about 40 yrs. in the middle of the 18th Century, and, so far as I know, the tax records of these years have never been published. I have as yet found no assessment records prior to 1751 at the Lancaster Court House, but am continuing the search.

These lists should be of much importance to genealogists in many ways. One is the fact that a great wave of migration into Va. from Pa. began during 1750s & grew stronger during the 1760s (also extending into the West—G. M. B.). The people who want to trace their ancestors in Pa. have until now had no tax lists of the time of this migration to help them, as the Penna. Archives begin with 1771 for Lancaster Co.

from Womelsdorf, by way of Kutztown and the East Penn valley, to Perth Amboy, in 1776. The regimental officers were from Tulpehocken and Heidelberg townships. In 1774 John Patton was assessed in Heidelberg township. By the amount of the assessment, he was evidently a rich property owner. By the Colonial Records it appears that he supplied the Continental army with cannon balls; and to this day many of those cannon balls can be seen as ornamentations on gate posts and in the yards.

JACOB SCHAEFFER.

Jacob Schaeffer, born in Heidelberg township, January 6, 1754; married to Margaretha Filsmeyer; served in the Revolutionary War; died December 6, 1816, aged 59 years and 6 months. His body is interred in Hain's graveyard.

BATTALION.

The following names are mentioned in the Battalions from Heidelberg township:

4th Battalion, 6th Company—Conrad Eckert, Adam Hain, Peter Young, Mathias Wenrich, Peter Kuhl and Simpson Hain.

1st Company—John Lesher, Isaac Depuy, John Anspach, Valentine Reed, Martin Stupp and Jacob Weiser.

4th Company—Conrad Weiser, Daniel Womelsdorf, Henry Walter, George Gensemer, Jacob Seltzer and George Brown.

8th Company—Philip Filbert, Philip Moyer, Francis Artellia, Leonard Zerbe, Henry Knopp and Samuel Boyer.

COMPANY OF CAPT. JACOB LIVINGOOD.

By the Colonial Records it appears that Jacob Livingood, of Womelsdorf, formed a company of riflemen in Heidelberg township during the latter part of September, 1781, but there is no record of their names.

The members of the Reformed Church throughout the county stood as a man for the cause of freedom, and stood shoulder to shoulder for the defense of their country, such men as Joseph Hiester, of Bern township; Nicholas Dick, Joseph Dick, Henry Diehl, David Fox, John Fox, Andrew Fichthorn, Henry Miller, Michael Madeira, Peter Nagel, Philip Nagel, George Price, Daniel Rose, John Row, Michael Reifsnyder, John Snell, George Snell, John Strohecker, George Yeager, and many others. In all wars we hear but little of the soldier who has to face the cannon and bear the brunt of the battle.

FIRST RECOMMENDATION FOR PRAYER.

The first recommendation for prayer made by Congress on December 11, 1776, is as follows:

"WHEREAS, The just war into which the United States of America have been forced by Great Britain is likely to be still from Womelsdorf, by way of Charlestown and the East Penn valley, to Perth Amboy, in 1776. The regimental officers were from Tulpehocken and Heidelberg townships. In 1774 John Patton was assessed in Heidelberg township. By the amount of the assessment, he was evidently a rich property owner. By the Colonial Records it appears that he supplied the Continental army with cannon balls; and to this day many of these cannon balls may be seen as ornamentations on gate posts and in the yards.

JACOB SCHAEFFER.

Jacob Schaeffer, born in Heidelberg township, January 3, 1758, married to Margaretta Filbmeyer; served in the Revolutionary War, died December 3, 1846, aged 88 years and 11 months. His body is interred in Hain's graveyard.

BATTALIONS.

The following names are mentioned in the Battalions from Heidelberg township:

4th Battalion, 6th Company—Conrad Eckert, Adam Hain, Peter Young, Mathias Wenrich, Peter Kuhl and Simpson Holt.

1st Company—John Lasher, Isaac Deppy, John Anspach, Valentine Reed, Martin Stupp and Jacob Weiser.

4th Company—Conrad Weiser, Daniel Womelsdorf, Henry Walter, George Gannomer, Jacob Seltzer and George Brecht.

8th Company—Philip Filbert, Philip Moyer, Francis Aithele, Leonard Zerbe, Henry Knopp and Samuel Boyer.

COMPANY OF CAPT. JACOB LIVINGOOD.

By the Colonial Records it appears that Jacob Livingood, of Womelsdorf, formed a company of riflemen in Heidelberg township during the latter part of September, 1781, but there is no record of their names.

The members of the Reformed Church throughout the county stood as a man for the cause of freedom, and stood shoulder to shoulder for the defense of their country, such men as Joseph Hiester, of Bern township; Nicholas Dick, Joseph Dick, Henry Diehl, David Fox, John Fox, Andrew Eichhorn, Henry Miller, Michael Madeira, Peter Nagel, Philip Nagel, George Fritz, Daniel Rose, John Rose, Michael Bollenyder, John Shell, George Shell, John Strohecker, George Yeager, and many others. In all wars we hear but little of the soldier who has to face the cannon and bear the brunt of the battle.

FIRST RECOMMENDATION FOR PRAYER.

The first recommendation for prayer made by Congress on December 11, 1776, is as follows:

"WHEREAS, The just war into which the United States of America have been forced by Great Britain is likely to be still

INTRODUCTION

PUBLISHED ARCHIVES GENERAL INFORMATION:

THE INFORMATION IN THIS BOOK IS EXTRACTED FROM THE VOLUMES OF THE PENNSYLVANIA ARCHIVES. DURING THE MID-1850'S MATERIAL FROM ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS OF THE COLONIAL PERIOD THROUGH THE LATE 1830'S WAS PRESERVED IN AN ORGANIZED, MORE ACCESSIBLE COLLECTION. MOST OF THE ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS ARE NO LONGER AVAILABLE AND IT IS PROBABLE THAT THEY WERE LOST OR DESTROYED. THE EXISTENCE OF MANY OF THE EARLY RESIDENTS OF PENNSYLVANIA IS RECORDED IN THE VOLUMES CALLED THE PUBLISHED PENNSYLVANIA ARCHIVES, CREATED FROM THOSE ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS. A VALUABLE REFERENCE FOR RESEARCHERS, THE PUBLISHED ARCHIVES CONSIST OF 9 SERIES OF VOLUMES. THE FIRST VOLUMES ARE REFERRED TO AS THE COLONIAL RECORDS, WITH THE REMAINDER DESIGNATED AS SERIES 2 THROUGH 9.

THIRD SERIES:

THE THIRD SERIES OF THE PUBLISHED ARCHIVES CONTAINS VOLUMES FOR EACH COUNTY IN EXISTENCE DURING THE TIME PERIOD. EACH COUNTY VOLUME IS SEPARATED INTO YEARS, THEN INTO TOWNSHIPS UNDER EACH YEAR. THROUGH THE YEARS THE NUMBER OF TOWNSHIPS INCREASES AS LARGER TOWNSHIPS ARE DIVIDED AND NEW TOWNSHIPS ARE FORMED. THE NAMES OF THE PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH A COUNTY, TAX INFORMATION, NUMBER OF ACRES, NUMBER OF ANIMALS, AND NUMBER OF PERSONS IN THE HOUSEHOLD ARE INCLUDED IN SOME OF THE ENTRIES. THERE ARE LISTINGS OF SINGLE PERSONS, NONRESIDENTS, AND LANDOWNERS. SOMETIMES THE OCCUPATION IS GIVEN, AN ESTATE ADMINISTRATOR IS MENTIONED, OR A DECEASED PERSON IS NOTED.

BERKS COUNTY PORTION:

VOLUME 18, THE BERKS COUNTY PORTION OF THE PUBLISHED PENNSYLVANIA ARCHIVES, IS AN IMPORTANT TOOL FOR THE BERKS COUNTY RESEARCHER. IT ENCOMPASSES MUCH OF THE INFORMATION ABOVE AND COVERS THE PERIOD FROM 1767 TO 1785. NOT ALL THE YEARS ARE REPRESENTED. THE MOST IMPORTANT YEARS ARE 1767 (THE EARLIEST AVAILABLE) AND 1784 (THE MOST INFORMATION INCLUDED). ALTHOUGH BERKS COUNTY WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1752, THE PUBLISHED ARCHIVES DOES NOT INCLUDE THAT DATA. THE NEXT READILY AVAILABLE SOURCE FOR BERKS COUNTY AFTER 1785 IS THE FEDERAL CENSUS OF 1790.

HEADING CODES:

THE FIRST COLUMN IS THE NAME OF THE TAX PAYER/LAND OWNER. THAT NAME COULD REPRESENT A PRINCIPLE RESIDENT, NON-RESIDENT, OR SINGLE PERSON. IF THE OCCUPATION OF THE PERSON IS LISTED IN THE ORIGINAL, IT WILL APPEAR BEHIND THE NAME. THE SECOND COLUMN IS THE PAGE NUMBER OF THE VOLUME IN THE PUBLISHED PENNSYLVANIA ARCHIVES. THE THIRD COLUMN IS THE TOWNSHIP WHERE THE PERSON WAS RECORDED. THE REMAINING 6 COLUMNS ARE (IN ORDER) A = NUMBER OF ACRES; H = NUMBER OF HORSES; C = HEAD OF CATTLE; S= NUMBER OF SHEEP; T = TAX; #-P = NUMBER OF PEOPLE IN THE HOUSEHOLD. BE CAUTIOUS ABOUT THE NUMBER OF PERSONS IN THE HOUSEHOLD; THEY MAY NOT ALL BE IMMEDIATE FAMILY. THERE COULD BE MOTHERS-IN-LAW, COUSINS, UNCLES, ORPHANS, DOMESTICS, FARM-HANDS OR OTHER WORKERS INCLUDED IN THE FIGURES.

1838 became United States minister to Austria); Rev. A. T. Geisenheiner, 1851-52; Rev. R. S. Wagner, 1852-57; Rev. T. T. Iaeger, 1857-65; Rev. Mr. Wicklein, 1865-73; Rev. F. K. Huntzinger, 1873-97; Rev. Charles E. Kistler, 1898 to the present time.

The cemetery near the church was laid out and used soon after the first Alsace church was built. Many of the inscriptions on the sandstone tombstones are no longer legible. The dates on the tombstones of John Theodore Baum who died in 1762, and John Fisher, who died in 1763, can still be read. Subsequently the cemetery was enlarged and incorporated. It remains under the control of the Alsace Lutheran and Reformed congregations.

The Alsace Union Sunday-school was organized about 1887. With the exception of brief intervals, Mr. D. D. Becker has been the superintendent during its existence. The Lutheran Sunday-school was organized in May, 1908. It is fully three times as strong as the Union School has ever been. Mr. Becker is still superintending it.

For more than a century the growth of the Alsace Lutheran congregation was very slow. With the approach of the city of Reading and the rapid development of Muhlenberg Township, very remarkable progress has been made during the last decade. With its present equipments, its willing workers and its splendid field, the prospects of the congregation could hardly be brighter.

A very happy event in the history of the congregation was the celebration of the 25th anniversary of Rev. Kistler's pastorate, May 20-23, 1923. Although Alsace Lutheran Church approaches the two century mark, none of its previous pastorates extended beyond a quarter of a century. It is doubtful whether any other congregation of the same age in America has made similar progress in recent years. A comparison with reports of the pastorate immediately preceding the present shows that in this comparatively brief period the congregation has quadrupled its membership, which now exceeds 1200, and that its income has grown to 18 times that of the Alsace Union Church of 1898.

Rev. Charles Edward Kistler married, August 23, 1899, Effie Fisher, daughter of the late Henry D. and Elizabeth (Rothenberger) Fisher, and they reside at No. 344 North Ninth Street, Reading, Pennsylvania.

The success which immediately attended Rev. Kistler's work in the ministry soon brought him into prominence as a leader in the Church. He served on many important boards and committees of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania. In 1907, he was elected secretary of the Reading Conference, and in 1912, became its president. Since 1917, he has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Muhlenberg College. He is a member of the Lutheran Orphans' Home Board, at Topton. For many years he served on the Council of the Berks County Historical Society. He was treasurer of the General Council Committee on the Quadricentennial Celebration of the Reformation. His chief contribution to make the occasion memorable was his translation of "Luther's Prayers." This work proved to be by far the most popular of the many books issued to commemmorate that noted event. An eminent authority has pronounced it "the best prayer book in English."

Rev. Kistler has contributed many articles to leading church periodicals, such as "The Lutheran," "The Church Review," "The American Lutheran Survey," "The Teachers' Training Quarterly," etc. Upon most urgent requests he furnished genealogical sketches to the "Pennsylvania German Magazine," "Annals of Berks County," and "History of Lehigh County." In September, 1922, he read a comprehensive paper before the Berks County Historical Society on "Kistler's Valley and Its Settlers." There was such a wide demand for it that its publication was required. The Committee in charge for editing "Lutherans in Berks County," persuaded him to write at least half a dozen of the leading chapters of that volume. For fully twenty years he has been chairman of the Kistler reunions held annually in Lehigh County. Through his ability as an executive and historian the gatherings of that family association have grown into the largest of the kind in eastern Pennsylvania.

In 1922, Rev. Kistler, through the Pilger Publishing House, Reading, Pennsylvania, published "Lasting Influences of Jesus Christ." The book has been widely commended as a valuable contribution to sacred literature. Late in 1923, Richard Badger of the Gorham Press, Boston, Massachusetts, persuaded him to submit for publication "This Nation Under God," which is a religious supplement to American History. The work promises to attract nationwide attention. Other important manuscripts issuing from Rev. Kistler's ready pen are nearing completion.

Rev. Kistler believes in seeing America first. With Mrs. Kistler he has spent many of his vacations in travel. They have visited nearly all the great industrial centers and outstanding points of interest from Boston to San Francisco.

HON. JAMES K. GETZ—In the history of Reading, one of the distinguished and influential names is that of the Hon. James K. Getz, progressive citizen, enterprising business executive, loyal public servant, and friend of all worthy endeavor. A native of Berks County, reared in its traditions and principally educated in its institutions, Mr. Getz, as a young man, found his path mapped out more or less definitely by circumstance, and in the ordinary affairs of life went forward with well-nigh extraordinary ability and won his way to large success. The perception and forward-reaching attitude which led him to ever wider and higher usefulness were forces for community, as well as individual advance, and during recent years, since Mr. Getz has retired to leisure interests, his influence for the general good has continued strong and vital. He is still a resident of his native county, and his beautiful home in Reading is the center of a select group of friends who delight to recall to this veteran of worthy endeavor the active years when he stood among the leaders of progress.

The Getz family is of German origin, and Mr. Getz is the fifth generation in direct descent of John Getz, the pioneer in America. John Getz was born in the Rheinpfalz District of Germany, and receiving a grant of land from King George of England, he settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Nicholas Getz, son of the pioneer, became a resident of Berks County early in life, and until his death was a prominent and successful farmer in this section. He married here, and here his children grew to manhood and womanhood, filling useful positions in life. Jacob

HON. JAMES R. GETZ—In the history of Reading, one of the distinguished and influential names is that of the Hon. James R. Getz, progressive citizen, enterprising business executive, loyal public servant, and friend of all worthy endeavor. A native of Berks County, steeped in its traditions and principally educated in its institutions, Mr. Getz, as a young man, found his path mapped out more or less definitely by circumstances, and in the ordinary affairs of his world went forward with well-nigh extraordinary ability and won his way to large success. The perception and forward-reaching attitude which led him to seek wider and higher usefulness were forces for community, as well as individual advance, and during recent years, since Mr. Getz has retired to leisure interests, his influence for the general good has continued strong and vital. He is still a resident of his native county, and his beautiful home in Reading is the center of a select group of friends who delight to recall to this veteran of worthy endeavor the active years when he stood among the leaders of progress.

The Getz family is of German origin, and Mr. Getz is the fifth generation in direct descent of John Getz, the pioneer in America. John Getz was born in the Rheinpfalz District of Germany, and receiving a grant of land from King George of England, he settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Nicholas Getz, son of the pioneer, became a resident of Berks County early in life, and until his death was a prominent and successful farmer in this section. He married here, and here his children grew to manhood and womanhood, filling useful positions in life. Jacob

Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Berks County, and also followed farming throughout his lifetime, winning the highest esteem and confidence of his cotemporaries in similiar lines of effort and in the public service. Jacob Getz married Hannah Soder, daughter of John Soder, a captain in the Revolutionary War, who served with honor and distinction in the Continental Line.

Hiram S. Getz, a son of Jacob, and fourth in descent in America, was born in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, April 11, 1822, the family having lived in that community for a time. Their return to Berks County in his childhood was coincidental with their taking up the family residence in Reading, and in the schools of this city Hiram S. Getz received a practical education. Gaining varied and valuable experience in the business world, he established a wholesale grocery business when thirty-five years of age, and for about thirteen years went forward along this line of endeavor. He gained a noteworthy position in this field, then the opportunity of disposing of the business to advantage led him to sell the interest and for a time he was more or less definitely retired. Feeling, however, that he was too young a man to lay aside active affairs, Hiram S. Getz, in 1874, entered the marble business. Receiving into partnership his son, James K. Getz, they conducted the steam marble firm as the firm of H. S. Getz & Company. He continued at the head of the interest until his death, which occurred August 21, 1886. Individual enterprise, however, was not the only usefulness of Hiram S. Getz, for he served during a period of three years as recorder of deeds for Berks County (1854-1857), and for a similiar period as registrar of wills (1869-1872). For a number of years prominent as a member of the City Council, he never failed throughout his lifetime to give to the community and general advance the constructive effort of a useful and progressive citizen. Hiram S. Getz married Sarah B. Kistler.

The Kistler family has been prominent in Berks County for upwards of two centuries. The pioneer ancestor was variously known as Johannes, Joerg, Hangoerg or John George, while Pastor Schumacher, in his records in Allemangel Church, wrote his name George Kistler. Born in the Palatinate, in Germany, he set sail in the good ship "Townshead," (Amsterdam to Philadelphia), arriving October 5, 1737. He settled at "Falkner Swamp," in Montgomery County, this State, a locality originally called "Der Schwamm," meaning "the meadow," by the original German settlers. Far from being a swamp, it was, and still is, a rich grazing region. In 1747, George Kistler secured a warrant for land in Albany Township, Berks County, and presumably, with others from "Der Schwamm," suffered much disappointment in the character of the section to which he came, the country being like a wilderness. These courageous pioneers named their community "Allemangel," or "All Wants," yet they remained and wrought heroically in the establishing of a prosperous village. George Kistler died in 1767, but the family became very numerous, hundreds of baptisms of children of this name being recorded in Allemangel Church. His wife, Anna Dorothea, and their older children, are believed to have accompanied him to this country.

Samuel Kistler, sixth child and sixth and youngest son of the pioneer, was born September 20, 1754, and died April 24, 1822. Becoming very prosperous and acquiring large tracts of land, he built a handsome stone residence, rightly considered a mansion in the locality which became known as Kistler's Valley, from the many families of this name residing there. He also built the Kistler Mill, which is located near Tripoli, and was considered one of the foremost men of his day in this section. Very devout and at the same time humble in his religious life, he was long an elder of Jerusalem Church, holding that office during the time when the present edifice was built (1812-1814). It is perhaps representative of the men of the period, as well as the structures that they built, that this church is now, after more than a hundred years, as solid and substantial as when it was dedicated to the worship of God. Samuel Kistler married twice, and was the father of fifteen children, his second wife, Catharine (Brobst) Kistler, having been the mother of twelve.

John S. Kistler, fourth child and third son of Samuel and Catharine (Brobst) Kistler, was born in the homestead in Berks County, and after a long life of eminent usefulness in the community both in individual endeavor and in the public service, he died, and was buried at Jerusalem Church. He married, and of his children, Sarah B., became the wife of Hiram S. Getz, as above mentioned. Hiram S. and Sarah B. (Kistler) Getz's children were: Amelia, James K., of further mention; Sarah, John, William, Emma, Charles K., Hiram K., and Laura.

James K. Getz, second child and eldest son of Hiram S. and Sarah B. (Kistler) Getz, was born in Albany Township, Berks County, January 19, 1848. His education was begun in the public schools of Reading, and he later went to Philadelphia, where he entered upon a preparatory course, purposing to go forward to college and take up a professional career. His father's election to the public service as county recorder occurred in 1853 and the family became residents of Reading. Mr. Getz relinquished his plans for the future of necessity, when the progress of the Civil War had called from civilian life the flower and strength of Reading. His father was then at the head of an important wholesale grocery business, and he was left almost entirely without employees, the recruiting activities having made such heavy inroads upon his force. Mr. Getz was still too young to take up arms for his country, being then only fifteen years of age, but taking a man's place in his father's business, he released one more to go to the front. Thus James K. Getz gained broad familiarity with the business in which his father had long been engaged, and in 1869, upon reaching the age of twenty-one years, he bought the business of his father in partnership with Jonathan Grim. The firm continued thus under the title of Getz & Grim for five years, then important changes took place and Mr. Getz became associated with his father in another line of endeavor.

Jacob, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Berks County, and also followed farming throughout his lifetime, winning the highest esteem and confidence of his contemporaries in familiar lines of effort and in the public service. Jacob Getz married Hannah Seeley, daughter of John Seeley, a captain in the Revolutionary War, who served with honor and distinction in the Continental Line.

Hiram S. Getz, a son of Jacob, and fourth in descent in America, was born in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, April 11, 1822, the family having lived in that community for a time. Their return to Berks County in his childhood was coincidental with their taking up the family residence in Reading, and in the schools of this city Hiram S. Getz received a practical education. Gaining varied and valuable experience in the business world, he established a wholesale grocery business when thirty-five years of age, and for about thirteen years went forward along this line of endeavor. He gained a [illegible] position in this field, then the opportunity of disposing of the business to advantage led him to sell the interest and for a time he was more or less definitely retired. Feeling, however, that he was too young a man to lay aside active affairs, Hiram S. Getz, in 1878, entered the marble business. Receiving into partnership his son, James K. Getz, they conducted the granite marble line as the firm of H. S. Getz & Company. He continued at the head of the business until his death, which occurred August 21, 1895. Individual enterprise, however, was not the only achievement of Hiram S. Getz, for he served during a period of three years as recorder of deeds for Berks County (1854-1857), and for a similar period as register of wills (1860-1863). For a number of years prominent as a member of the City Council, he never spared therefrom his [illegible] to give to the community and general advance the constructive effort of a useful and progressive citizen. Hiram S. Getz married Sarah B. Kistler.

The Kistler family has been prominent in Berks County for upwards of two centuries. The pioneer ancestor was variously known as Johannes, Joerg, "Hans Jerg" or John George, while Pastor Schumacher, in his records in Allemaengel Church, wrote his name George Kistler. Born in the Palatinate, in Germany, he set sail in the good ship "Townshend" (Amsterdam) to Philadelphia, arriving October 5, 1737. He settled at "Falkner Swamp" in Montgomery County, this State, a locality originally called "Der Schwamm," meaning "the meadow," by the original German settlers. Far from being a swamp, it was, and still is, a rich grazing region. In 1747, George Kistler secured a warrant for land in Albany Township, Berks County, and presumably, with others from "Der Schwamm," suffered much disappointment in the character of the section to which he came, the country being like a wilderness. These courageous pioneers named their community "Allemaengel," or "All Wants," yet they remained and wrought heroically in the establishing of a prosperous village. George Kistler died in 1762, but the family became very numerous, hundreds of [illegible] of this

Under the title of H. S. Getz & Company they formed the steam marble works in which Mr. Getz continued active for more than forty years. This interest was shared by his brother, Hiram K. Getz, after his father's death, and became a force of vital importance to the building interests of this section. Meanwhile, in 1896, another concern was formed which meant much to building operations in Berks County, Mr. Getz becoming president of the Reading Shale Brick Company. Along the most progressive policies, and with fearlessness of expansion, as well as executive ability, Mr. Getz led this concern to great importance and permanent success. Every enterprise with which he has been connected holds outstanding rank in matters of business acumen and integrity, and his name has for many years been a guarantee of good faith in any progressive endeavor.

It was only in the course of circumstances and entirely to be expected that the long prominence of Mr. Getz in the business world should lead to his being sought for the public service. The Democratic Party well knew the record of his father and grandfather, who were both staunch advocates of Democratic principles. Thus the party leaders looked to the younger man with the utmost confidence in his loyalty and signal ability. The nation had scarcely recovered from the exhaustion of Civil War when Mr. Getz began his public career as a councilman from the Fifth Ward of Reading. His great popularity was evidenced by the large majority he received in that, a Republican district. A member of the council for two years, he was made president of the body during the second year, and although then still a young man, he fulfilled the duties of that position with dignity and excellent judgment. Other responsibilities of the party organization were placed in his hands, and when his name was brought forward in 1885 as candidate for Mayor of the city of Reading, it was as if by popular acclaim that he was placed in the highest local office in the gift of the people. His wise and judicious attitude on all public occasions and questions is still a matter of comment as well as a matter of record.

Fraternally, Mr. Getz is affiliated with Lodge No. 62, Free and Accepted Masons; Reading Chapter, No. 152, Royal Arch Masons; De Molay Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar; Reading Consistory, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, in which he holds the thirty-second degree, and in the year 1920 the very unusual and distinguished honor of the thirty-third degree in Masonry was conferred upon him. He is further a member of the Royal Order of Scotland, and of Rajah Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

James K. Getz married, in 1868, Mary Agnes Jones, daughter of John H. Jones, a leading farmer of his day, son of Samuel Jones, the son of Thomas Jones, Jr., and a member of a family long prominent in Berks County. The pioneer ancestor of this family was the Rev. Thomas Jones, a Baptist clergyman, who was born in Wales and came to America, taking up a parcel of land in Cumru Township in 1735. His son, Thomas Jones, Jr., who was born in that township in 1742, was one of the organizers of the "Associators," a patriotic society of this section cotemporaneous with Revolutionary activities. Thomas Jones, Jr., served in the War for Independence in the Continental Line, and was a member of the first Constitutional Convention. He died in Berks County, in March, 1800.

DR. RUSSELL STAUFFER DETWILER—Largely successful and widely prominent in one of the most important branches of human endeavor of the present day, Dr. Russell Stauffer Detwiler is a noteworthy figure. He is a son of Charles Heyser and Alice (Stauffer) Detwiler, his father a graduate of the University of Toronto, class of 1889, and a successful veterinary surgeon until his retirement, now a resident of Philadelphia.

Dr. Russell Stauffer Detwiler was born in Royersford, Pennsylvania, September 12, 1894. His education was begun in the local public schools, and his graduation from the Royersford High School occurred in the class of 1912. His deep interest in the welfare of animals, together with the fact of his father's professional activity in this realm, determined the young man's trend of ambition, and entering the University of Pennsylvania, he was graduated from that institution in the classe of 1915, as a veterinarian. Dr. Detwiler's first experience in his life-work took him to Italy with a consignment of horses for the Italian Army. Landing at Spezia, he spent considerable time at Genoa, Rome and Naples, gaining a broad familiarity with conditions and affairs relevant to his work in Italy and pursuing further studies. Returning to America, he began practice in Elyria, Ohio, in October, 1915, and continued there with marked success until June, 1917. He then entered the veterinary corps of the United States Army and was assigned to the Medical Officers' Training Camp, at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, from which he was transferred to the Veterinary Training School Camp, at Camp Lee, Virginia. Going overseas with the American Expeditionary Forces, Dr. Detwiler served at Veterinary Hospital, No. 8, with the same unit which was stationed at Meaux, his work having to do with the evacuation of wounded horses from the Chateau-Thierry district. He is still affiliated with military advance as regimental veterinarian for the 109th Field Artillery, 28th Division, United States Army, although he received his honorable discharge from the active service in June, 1919. Upon returning to civilian life, Dr. Detwiler became identified with the Penshurst Farms, at Narberth, Pennsylvania, a famous stock farm, where the finest Ayrshire cattle and Berkshire hogs are bred. Next going to the Conyngham Brothers' large farm at Wilkes-Barre, he served on that estate as veterinarian, the specialty of the Conyngham Brothers being Holstein cattle and Clydesdale horses. Coming to Reading in 1921, Dr. Detwiler took over the practice of Dr. K. H. Cleaver and has since been active along this line of professional endeavor, with large and ever-increasing success. He is a member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical As-member of this firm, he established a branch wholesale leather interest in Philadelphia with which he retained his connection practically until his death. Other interests of great importance also engaged his attention, however. He formed a partnership with Lambert A. Rehr in 1884, and under the firm name of Rehr & Fricker these progressive men were active for many years as contractors and builders, with offices at No. 124 Cedar Street. Mr. Fricker held this affiliation until his death and the concern is still active. They built many houses in Reading and vicinity, and improved materially various sections of the city. This interest undoubtedly led to Mr. Fricker's connection also with the Reading Lumber Company, in which he became a governing shareholder. He was also identified with the Reading Hardware Company, and was for a long time president and a considerable stockholder of the Crescent Brass Foundry Co. He became one of the founders of the Reading Abattoir Company, Inc., and for about twenty years he served as manager of the last mentioned concern, which contributed in a very important way to the general health and welfare of the people.

Throughout his lifetime an ardent supporter of the Republican Party, Mr. Fricker gave his best endeavors to its progress and was influential in its ranks. He never sought or cared for official honors, but was made presidential elector from the Berks-Lehigh Congressional District for the Republican State Convention, his constituency instructing him to vote for Theodore Roosevelt. No interest of Mr. Fricker's life was greater than his Christian devotion to charitable and religious effort. Of his activities of this nature the "Reformed Church Messenger," under the date of November 25, 1915, commented as follows:

> Left fatherless in early life, he was reared in an atmosphere of unusual piety and faith, created by a mother whose chief resource lay in her trust in God. His endowment of tremendous physical and mental energy thus became permeated through and through with the religious spirit, which insured a life of conspicuous usefulness.
> He began his business career with industry and a native fund of energy as his only capital. But he rose step by step to a commanding position in the industrial life of the community.
> His chief interest, however, was not material, but spiritual. He sought money, not for its own sake, but for the spiritual uses to which it could be devoted. He occasionally expressed the desire to be rich, but never for the sake of what it would bring to him, but always for the sake of the good that he could do with it.
> That he was genuine in the expression of this desire is evidenced by the unostentious life which he lived. There was never any display of wealth or show of power. Without judging other men, his practice showed his fine sense of stewardship. ********
> His contributions to St. Paul's were always generous and he gave thousands of dollars in the extension work of the Reformed Church in Reading. ******

His gifts to local benevolences were rarely known when he could avoid publicity. He did much charitable work for orphans. And no worthy cause could appeal to him without substantial response. For more than thirty years Mr. Fricker sang in the choir of St. Paul's Reformed Church, of Reading, of which he was one of the founders. He was also greatly interested in the Bausman Memorial Reformed Church, of Wyomissing, and his familiarity with construction affairs led to his service on building committees of St. Thomas', St. John's, Calvary, St. Andrew's, Zion's, and of the first structures of St. Stephen's, St. Mark's, the Sunday School building of St. Paul's and also of the Seminary building of the Reformed Church in Lancaster. Mr. Fricker was a well known member of the Mozart Musical Union, but his voice was rarely heard except in the sacred edifices, which he took the greatest delight in attending.

Jacob Benton Fricker married, in 1868, Annie E. Getz, daughter of Peter D. Getz, a sketch of whom follows. Mr. and Mrs. Fricker were the parents of four daughters: Katharine, who died in infancy; Mary F., who married Thomas G. Mull, and who have one daughter, Helen; Martha A., died in 1914; and Anna F., who married John J. Beaver. Mrs. Fricker survives her husband and maintains the homestead at No. 214 North Sixth Street, Reading.

PETER D. GETZ—No more interesting or profitable privilege can engage the attention of the student of affairs and conditions than delving into the past for the records of early pioneers in any realm of endeavor. It is equally true that no locality is more richly blessed with records of worthy and commendable achievement than is Berks County, and in every decade of its history groups of upright and sturdy citizens have contributed to the general prosperity and well-being. The life of Peter D. Getz may well exemplify in these permanent records of Berks County the citizenship of his time, for throughout his career, which spanned a generous portion of the nineteenth century, he gave to life and its responsibilities the tireless and constructive endeavor which carried his name to a noteworthy position.

Nicholas Getz, grandfather of Mr. Getz, lived on a farm in Cumru Township, and it is a matter of tradition that he was the first farmer in that vicinity to own a finely finished carriage with springs. Tradition is explicit in handing down also the information that upon his drives through Reading the man and the vehicle attracted wide attention.

John Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Cumru Township, and reared in agricultural activities. He became the owner of a splendid two hundred acre farm adjoining his father's property, but his life was closed in its prime by an unfortunate accident. He removed with his family to No. 115 Penn Street, Reading, then after a short residence there, removed once more to a house at the lower end of Chestnut Street, finally occupying a house near his business, which was on the wharf, at the bank of the canal. This was known for many years as Getz's Wharf. John Getz was returning home from an evening call on his son, Aaron, and crossing the bridge at the foot of Franklin Street, which had guard rails only a part of its length, he fell into the locks. An abrasion on his forehead indicated that he was stunned by his head striking a stone in the water and was hence incapable of helping himself. This must have been the case, as he was known to be an excellent swimmer.

Peter D. Getz, son of John Getz, was born September 11, 1822, on the farm owned by his father in Cumru Township. Only a few years of age when his father lost his life, he was early active in business affairs, but secured an excellent practical education at the school presided over by Rachel D. Griscom, which was in a frame building on Penn Street, between Second and Third. He also attended school in the basement of the First Baptist Church, under Milo H. Ferry, who kept a rope suspended from the ceiling, threatening to hang up any pupil who was unruly. His studies were completed under Major David Madeira, who conducted a private school and is described as "a tall, stout man, with florid complexion and side whiskers." Major Madeira was very prominent in local military affairs and was for some time captain of the Washington Grays.

At the age of sixteen years, Mr. Getz hauled "sills" from Getz's Wharf for the construction of the Reading Railroad, and he witnessed the unloading of the first locomotive from a canal boat at the same wharf. This locomotive was named the "Delaware" and was brought from Philadelphia on Isaiah Goodfellow's boat, while a crane was used for unloading it. Iron rails were laid along Chestnut Street, and horses were brought to the task of drawing the engine to the plot of ground at the southwest corner of Seventh and Chestnut streets, where the old Reading Academy building later stood. People of all ages and both sexes came from all parts of the country to see the locomotive drawn up to the street. The railroad in its construction brought business to Reading, and Mr. Getz in his early activities did much toward its building. Having learned the blacksmith trade from his brother, Aaron, who was left in charge of their father's shop, the brothers did a great deal of work for the Reading Railroad Company, making spikes by the ton, indeed producing many tons of spikes and other iron work required in construction activities, including iron work for the many bridges along the right of way. Mr. Getz also, as he became the sole owner of the blacksmith shop, did the blacksmith work for the leading concerns of an industrial and commercial nature throughout the city. In the civic affairs of his time, Mr. Getz took the deepest interest, and was twice a member of the Common Council from what was then known as the Southwest Ward. He was first elected to that body in 1852, then later, in 1857, and at this time there were only five wards, Northeast, Northwest, Southeast, Southwest and Spruce. Mr. Getz further served as highway commissioner of the Western Division, which included all thoroughfares west of Washington Street, during the year 1874. For twenty-one years, Mr. Getz owned a stone yard at the corner of Front and Chestnut streets. His reason for retirement was not old age, but rather impaired health, due to an accident, a heavy stone having fallen upon him in the activities of the stone business. His partners in this interest were, successively, Reuben Drexel and Charles Davis, each of these men having been affiliated with him for about a decade. In many interests of a community nature, Mr. Getz held prominent rank, and not the least noteworthy of these had to do with the maintenance of order in the civic body. It is of interest to this record to quote from a newspaper published many years ago, which printed a full column article on the life of Mr. Getz. This article said in part:

> Mr. Getz recollects well when the night watchmen called out the hours of the night and the condition of the weather. When a boy he saw the young folks dance in the large hall of the public house that stood at the foot of Penn Street, south side, and which was kept by the late Henry Rheinhart from 1836 until 1841. There was generally dancing there every other Saturday night.
> The late Jacob Bushong was a member of Common Council from the Northwest ward, while Mr. Getz was a member from the Southwest. The latter said: "Mr. Bushong and I were appointed on the secret police force to walk around at night from about 10 p. m. till 4 a. m. several times a week in citizens' clothing, with power to arrest any disorderly or suspicious person and take them to the lock-up. If I found any disorderly persons together on the street I told them to disperse and go home, and I closely watched the movements of suspicious persons, but I never arrested any one. The secret police received no pay. At that time incendiaries, robbers and other objectionable persons were about, and it was thought the secret police could watch them better than the regular police, who were known as such. Each member of the secret police carried a pistol, but I never heard that any one had occasion to use his weapon. I was never attacked or abused. I went around partly disguised."

Peter D. Getz married Mary Magdalene Wehr, and they were the parents of seven children: Kate, wife of Albert Simon; Annie E., wife of Jacob B. Fricker, a sketch of whom precedes this; Jennie; Viola; Peter R.; Charles; and Linda, deceased.

PAUL H. GERHARDT, M. D.—Philadelphia and New York institutions gave Dr. Gerhardt the general and specialized medical training that was his preparation for the professional work that has been pursued in Reading and that has numbered him among the leading specialists of the district. Diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat form the field to which he confines his labors and in which he has been notably successful.

Dr. Gerhardt is a native of Berks County, son of Franklin P. and Emma R. (Peifer) Gerhardt, and was born at Wernersville, Pennsylvania, February 5, 1880. His public school studies were completed with graduation from the Wernersville High School in 1898, after which he took special work at the State Normal School at Kutztown, Pennsylvania, in 1900 graduating from Stoner's Business College. His medical studies were followed in Hahnemann Medical College, of Philadelphia, where he received the degree of M. D. in 1908, and he then began general practice, subsequently receiving the degree of O. et O. Chir., from the New York Ophthalmic College. The first year after his graduation from Hahnemann was spent as resident physician at Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia, and he was afterward, for one year, resident physician at the Homœopathic Hospital in Reading. Six years was the term of his general practice, but he now gives himself exclusively to eye, ear, nose and throat work, maintaining an office in the American Casualty Building, in Reading.

Dr. Gerhardt enlisted in the Medical Reserve Corps (later known as the Medical Corps) of the United States Army and was commissioned captain, leaving Reading August 3, 1917, and attending the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. Subsequently, he was assigned to duty at Camp Jackson, Base Hospital, Columbia, South Carolina, and from this place he went overseas, as chief of the eye service at Base Hospital No. 59, located at Remaucourt, Haute-Marne, France. After the close of hostilities he returned to the United States and was honorably discharged at Camp Dix, New Jersey, August 6,

LEWIS HISTORICAL PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC.
NEW YORK

1838 became United States minister to Austria); Rev. A. T. Geisenheiner, 1851-52; Rev. R. S. Wagner, 1852-57; Rev. T. T. Iaeger, 1857-65; Rev. Mr. Wicklein, 1865-73; Rev. F. K. Huntzinger, 1873-97; Rev. Charles E. Kistler, 1898 to the present time.

The cemetery near the church was laid out and used soon after the first Alsace church was built. Many of the inscriptions on the sandstone tombstones are no longer legible. The dates on the tombstones of John Theodore Baum who died in 1762, and John Fisher, who died in 1763, can still be read. Subsequently the cemetery was enlarged and incorporated. It remains under the control of the Alsace Lutheran and Reformed congregations.

The Alsace Union Sunday-school was organized about 1887. With the exception of brief intervals, Mr. D. D. Becker has been the superintendent during its existence. The Lutheran Sunday-school was organized in May, 1908. It is fully three times as strong as the Union School has ever been. Mr. Becker is still superintending it.

For more than a century the growth of the Alsace Lutheran congregation was very slow. With the approach of the city of Reading and the rapid development of Muhlenberg Township, very remarkable progress has been made during the last decade. With its present equipments, its willing workers and its splendid field, the prospects of the congregation could hardly be brighter.

A very happy event in the history of the congregation was the celebration of the 25th anniversary of Rev. Kistler's pastorate, May 20-23, 1923. Although Alsace Lutheran Church approaches the two century mark, none of its previous pastorates extended beyond a quarter of a century. It is doubtful whether any other congregation of the same age in America has made similar progress in recent years. A comparison with reports of the pastorate immediately preceding the present shows that in this comparatively brief period the congregation has quadrupled its membership, which now exceeds 1200, and that its income has grown to 18 times that of the Alsace Union Church of 1898.

Rev. Charles Edward Kistler married, August 23, 1899, Effie Fisher, daughter of the late Henry D. and Elizabeth (Rothenberger) Fisher, and they reside at No. 344 North Ninth Street, Reading, Pennsylvania.

The success which immediately attended Rev. Kistler's work in the ministry soon brought him into prominence as a leader in the Church. He served on many important boards and committees of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania. In 1907, he was elected secretary of the Reading Conference, and in 1912, became its president. Since 1917, he has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Muhlenberg College. He is a member of the Lutheran Orphans' Home Board, at Topton. For many years he served on the Council of the Berks County Historical Society. He was treasurer of the General Council Committee on the Quadricentennial Celebration of the Reformation. His chief contribution to make the occasion memorable was his translation of "Luther's Prayers." This work proved to be by far the most popular of the many books issued to commemmorate that noted event. An eminent authority has pronounced it "the best prayer book in English."

Rev. Kistler has contributed many articles to leading church periodicals, such as "The Lutheran," "The Church Review," "The American Lutheran Survey," "The Teachers' Training Quarterly," etc. Upon most urgent requests he furnished genealogical sketches to the "Pennsylvania German Magazine," "Annals of Berks County," and "History of Lehigh County." In September, 1922, he read a comprehensive paper before the Berks County Historical Society on "Kistler's Valley and Its Settlers." There was such a wide demand for it that its publication was required. The Committee in charge for editing "Lutherans in Berks County," persuaded him to write at least half a dozen of the leading chapters of that volume. For fully twenty years he has been chairman of the Kistler reunions held annually in Lehigh County. Through his ability as an executive and historian the gatherings of that family association have grown into the largest of the kind in eastern Pennsylvania.

In 1922, Rev. Kistler, through the Pilger Publishing House, Reading, Pennsylvania, published "Lasting Influences of Jesus Christ." The book has been widely commended as a valuable contribution to sacred literature. Late in 1923, Richard Badger of the Gorham Press, Boston, Massachusetts, persuaded him to submit for publication "This Nation Under God," which is a religious supplement to American History. The work promises to attract nationwide attention. Other important manuscripts issuing from Rev. Kistler's ready pen are nearing completion.

Rev. Kistler believes in seeing America first. With Mrs. Kistler he has spent many of his vacations in travel. They have visited nearly all the great industrial centers and outstanding points of interest from Boston to San Francisco.

HON. JAMES K. GETZ—In the history of Reading, one of the distinguished and influential names is that of the Hon. James K. Getz, progressive citizen, enterprising business executive, loyal public servant, and friend of all worthy endeavor. A native of Berks County, reared in its traditions and principally educated in its institutions, Mr. Getz, as a young man, found his path mapped out more or less definitely by circumstance, and in the ordinary affairs of life went forward with well-nigh extraordinary ability and won his way to large success. The perception and forward-reaching attitude which led him to ever wider and higher usefulness were forces for community, as well as individual advance, and during recent years, since Mr. Getz has retired to leisure interests, his influence for the general good has continued strong and vital. He is still a resident of his native county, and his beautiful home in Reading is the center of a select group of friends who delight to recall to this veteran of worthy endeavor the active years when he stood among the leaders of progress.

The Getz family is of German origin, and Mr. Getz is the fifth generation in direct descent of John Getz, the pioneer in America. John Getz was born in the Rheinpfalz District of Germany, and receiving a grant of land from King George of England, he settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Nicholas Getz, son of the pioneer, became a resident of Berks County early in life, and until his death was a prominent and successful farmer in this section. He married here, and here his children grew to manhood and womanhood, filling useful positions in life. Jacob

Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Berks County, and also followed farming throughout his lifetime, winning the highest esteem and confidence of his cotemporaries in similiar lines of effort and in the public service. Jacob Getz married Hannah Soder, daughter of John Soder, a captain in the Revolutionary War, who served with honor and distinction in the Continental Line.

Hiram S. Getz, a son of Jacob, and fourth in descent in America, was born in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, April 11, 1822, the family having lived in that community for a time. Their return to Berks County in his childhood was coincidental with their taking up the family residence in Reading, and in the schools of this city Hiram S. Getz received a practical education. Gaining varied and valuable experience in the business world, he established a wholesale grocery business when thirty-five years of age, and for about thirteen years went forward along this line of endeavor. He gained a noteworthy position in this field, then the opportunity of disposing of the business to advantage led him to sell the interest and for a time he was more or less definitely retired. Feeling, however, that he was too young a man to lay aside active affairs, Hiram S. Getz, in 1874, entered the marble business. Receiving into partnership his son, James K. Getz, they conducted the steam marble firm as the firm of H. S. Getz & Company. He continued at the head of the interest until his death, which occurred August 21, 1886. Individual enterprise, however, was not the only usefulness of Hiram S. Getz, for he served during a period of three years as recorder of deeds for Berks County (1854-1857), and for a similiar period as registrar of wills (1869-1872). For a number of years prominent as a member of the City Council, he never failed throughout his lifetime to give to the community and general advance the constructive effort of a useful and progressive citizen. Hiram S. Getz married Sarah B. Kistler.

The Kistler family has been prominent in Berks County for upwards of two centuries. The pioneer ancestor was variously known as Johannes, Joerg, Hangoerg or John George, while Pastor Schumacher, in his records in Allemangel Church, wrote his name George Kistler. Born in the Palatinate, in Germany, he set sail in the good ship "Townshead," (Amsterdam to Philadelphia), arriving October 5, 1737. He settled at "Falkner Swamp," in Montgomery County, this State, a locality originally called "Der Schwamm," meaning "the meadow," by the original German settlers. Far from being a swamp, it was, and still is, a rich grazing region. In 1747, George Kistler secured a warrant for land in Albany Township, Berks County, and presumably, with others from "Der Schwamm," suffered much disappointment in the character of the section to which he came, the country being like a wilderness. These courageous pioneers named their community "Allemangel," or "All Wants," yet they remained and wrought heroically in the establishing of a prosperous village. George Kistler died in 1767, but the family became very numerous, hundreds of baptisms of children of this name being recorded in Allemangel Church. His wife, Anna Dorothea, and their older children, are believed to have accompanied him to this country.

Samuel Kistler, sixth child and sixth and youngest son of the pioneer, was born September 20, 1754, and died April 24, 1822. Becoming very prosperous and acquiring large tracts of land, he built a handsome stone residence, rightly considered a mansion in the locality which became known as Kistler's Valley, from the many families of this name residing there. He also built the Kistler Mill, which is located near Tripoli, and was considered one of the foremost men of his day in this section. Very devout and at the same time humble in his religious life, he was long an elder of Jerusalem Church, holding that office during the time when the present edifice was built (1812-1814). It is perhaps representative of the men of the period, as well as the structures that they built, that this church is now, after more than a hundred years, as solid and substantial as when it was dedicated to the worship of God. Samuel Kistler married twice, and was the father of fifteen children, his second wife, Catharine (Brobst) Kistler, having been the mother of twelve.

John S. Kistler, fourth child and third son of Samuel and Catharine (Brobst) Kistler, was born in the homestead in Berks County, and after a long life of eminent usefulness in the community both in individual endeavor and in the public service, he died, and was buried at Jerusalem Church. He married, and of his children, Sarah B., became the wife of Hiram S. Getz, as above mentioned. Hiram S. and Sarah B. (Kistler) Getz's children were: Amelia, James K., of further mention; Sarah, John, William, Emma, Charles K., Hiram K., and Laura.

James K. Getz, second child and eldest son of Hiram S. and Sarah B. (Kistler) Getz, was born in Albany Township, Berks County, January 19, 1848. His education was begun in the public schools of Reading, and he later went to Philadelphia, where he entered upon a preparatory course, purposing to go forward to college and take up a professional career. His father's election to the public service as county recorder occurred in 1853 and the family became residents of Reading. Mr. Getz relinquished his plans for the future of necessity, when the progress of the Civil War had called from civilian life the flower and strength of Reading. His father was then at the head of an important wholesale grocery business, and he was left almost entirely without employees, the recruiting activities having made such heavy inroads upon his force. Mr. Getz was still too young to take up arms for his country, being then only fifteen years of age, but taking a man's place in his father's business, he released one more to go to the front. Thus James K. Getz gained broad familiarity with the business in which his father had long been engaged, and in 1869, upon reaching the age of twenty-one years, he bought the business of his father in partnership with Jonathan Grim. The firm continued thus under the title of Getz & Grim for five years, then important changes took place and Mr. Getz became associated with his father in another line of endeavor.

Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Berks County, and also followed farming throughout his lifetime, winning the highest esteem and confidence of his contemporaries, in similar lines of effort and in the public service. The Kistler family has been prominent in Berks County for upwards of two centuries. Becoming very prosperous and acquiring large tracts of land, he built a handsome stone residence, rightly considered a mansion in the locality which became known as Kistler's Valley from the many families of this name residing there. James K. Getz, second child and eldest son of Hiram S. and Sarah B. (Kistler) Getz, was born in Albany Township, Berks County, January 19, 1848. His education was begun in the public schools of Reading, and he later went to Philadelphia, where he entered upon a preparatory course, purposing to go forward to college and take up a professional career. His father's election to the public service as county recorder occurred in 1853 and the family became residents of Reading. Mr. Getz was still too young to take up arms for his country, being then only fifteen years of age, but taking a man's place in his father's business, he released one more to go to the front. Thus James K. The firm continued thus under the title of Getz & Grim for five years, then important changes took place and Mr. Getz became associated with his father in another line of endeavor.

Under the title of H. S. Getz & Company they formed the steam marble works in which Mr. Getz continued active for more than forty years. This interest was shared by his brother, Hiram K. Getz, after his father's death, and became a force of vital importance to the building interests of this section. Meanwhile, in 1896, another concern was formed which meant much to building operations in Berks County, Mr. Getz becoming president of the Reading Shale Brick Company. Along the most progressive policies, and with fearlessness of expansion, as well as executive ability, Mr. Getz led this concern to great importance and permanent success. Every enterprise with which he has been connected holds outstanding rank in matters of business acumen and integrity, and his name has for many years been a guarantee of good faith in any progressive endeavor.

It was only in the course of circumstances and entirely to be expected that the long prominence of Mr. Getz in the business world should lead to his being sought for the public service. The Democratic Party well knew the record of his father and grandfather, who were both staunch advocates of Democratic principles. Thus the party leaders looked to the younger man with the utmost confidence in his loyalty and signal ability. The nation had scarcely recovered from the exhaustion of Civil War when Mr. Getz began his public career as a councilman from the Fifth Ward of Reading. His great popularity was evidenced by the large majority he received in that, a Republican district. A member of the council for two years, he was made president of the body during the second year, and although then still a young man, he fulfilled the duties of that position with dignity and excellent judgment. Other responsibilities of the party organization were placed in his hands, and when his name was brought forward in 1885 as candidate for Mayor of the city of Reading, it was as if by popular acclaim that he was placed in the highest local office in the gift of the people. His wise and judicious attitude on all public occasions and questions is still a matter of comment as well as a matter of record.

Fraternally, Mr. Getz is affiliated with Lodge No. 62, Free and Accepted Masons; Reading Chapter, No. 152, Royal Arch Masons; De Molay Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar; Reading Consistory, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, in which he holds the thirty-second degree, and in the year 1920 the very unusual and distinguished honor of the thirty-third degree in Masonry was conferred upon him. He is further a member of the Royal Order of Scotland, and of Rajah Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

James K. Getz married, in 1868, Mary Agnes Jones, daughter of John H. Jones, a leading farmer of his day, son of Samuel Jones, the son of Thomas Jones, Jr., and a member of a family long prominent in Berks County. The pioneer ancestor of this family was the Rev. Thomas Jones, a Baptist clergyman, who was born in Wales and came to America, taking up a parcel of land in Cumru Township in 1735. His son, Thomas Jones, Jr., who was born in that township in 1742, was one of the organizers of the "Associators," a patriotic society of this section cotemporaneous with Revolutionary activities. Thomas Jones, Jr., served in the War for Independence in the Continental Line, and was a member of the first Constitutional Convention. He died in Berks County, in March, 1800.

DR. RUSSELL STAUFFER DETWILER—

Largely successful and widely prominent in one of the most important branches of human endeavor of the present day, Dr. Russell Stauffer Detwiler is a noteworthy figure. He is a son of Charles Heyser and Alice (Stauffer) Detwiler, his father a graduate of the University of Toronto, class of 1889, and a successful veterinary surgeon until his retirement, now a resident of Philadelphia.

Dr. Russell Stauffer Detwiler was born in Royersford, Pennsylvania, September 12, 1894. His education was begun in the local public schools, and his graduation from the Royersford High School occurred in the class of 1912. His deep interest in the welfare of animals, together with the fact of his father's professional activity in this realm, determined the young man's trend of ambition, and entering the University of Pennsylvania, he was graduated from that institution in the classe of 1915, as a veterinarian. Dr. Detwiler's first experience in his life-work took him to Italy with a consignment of horses for the Italian Army. Landing at Spezia, he spent considerable time at Genoa, Rome and Naples, gaining a broad familiarity with conditions and affairs relevant to his work in Italy and pursuing further studies. Returning to America, he began practice in Elyria, Ohio, in October, 1915, and continued there with marked success until June, 1917. He then entered the veterinary corps of the United States Army and was assigned to the Medical Officers' Training Camp, at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, from which he was transferred to the Veterinary Training School Camp, at Camp Lee, Virginia. Going overseas with the American Expeditionary Forces, Dr. Detwiler served at Veterinary Hospital, No. 8, with the same unit which was stationed at Meaux, his work having to do with the evacuation of wounded horses from the Chateau-Thierry district. He is still affiliated with military advance as regimental veterinarian for the 109th Field Artillery, 28th Division, United States Army, although he received his honorable discharge from the active service in June, 1919. Upon returning to civilian life, Dr. Detwiler became identified with the Penshurst Farms, at Narberth, Pennsylvania, a famous stock farm, where the finest Ayrshire cattle and Berkshire hogs are bred. Next going to the Conyngham Brothers' large farm at Wilkes-Barre, he served on that estate as veterinarian, the specialty of the Conyngham Brothers being Holstein cattle and Clydesdale horses. Coming to Reading in 1921, Dr. Detwiler took over the practice of Dr. K. H. Cleaver and has since been active along this line of professional endeavor, with large and ever-increasing success. He is a member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical As-member of this firm, he established a branch wholesale leather interest in Philadelphia with which he retained his connection practically until his death. Other interests of great importance also engaged his attention, however. He formed a partnership with Lambert A. Rehr in 1884, and under the firm name of Rehr & Fricker these progressive men were active for many years as contractors and builders, with offices at No. 124 Cedar Street. Mr. Fricker held this affiliation until his death and the concern is still active. They built many houses in Reading and vicinity, and improved materially various sections of the city. This interest undoubtedly led to Mr. Fricker's connection also with the Reading Lumber Company, in which he became a governing shareholder. He was also identified with the Reading Hardware Company, and was for a long time president and a considerable stockholder of the Crescent Brass Foundry Co. He became one of the founders of the Reading Abattoir Company, Inc., and for about twenty years he served as manager of the last mentioned concern, which contributed in a very important way to the general health and welfare of the people.

Throughout his lifetime an ardent supporter of the Republican Party, Mr. Fricker gave his best endeavors to its progress and was influential in its ranks. He never sought or cared for official honors, but was made presidential elector from the Berks-Lehigh Congressional District for the Republican State Convention, his constituency instructing him to vote for Theodore Roosevelt. No interest of Mr. Fricker's life was greater than his Christian devotion to charitable and religious effort. Of his activities of this nature the "Reformed Church Messenger," under the date of November 25, 1915, commented as follows:

> Left fatherless in early life, he was reared in an atmosphere of unusual piety and faith, created by a mother whose chief resource lay in her trust in God. His endowment of tremendous physical and mental energy thus became permeated through and through with the religious spirit, which insured a life of conspicuous usefulness.
> He began his business career with industry and a native fund of energy as his only capital. But he rose step by step to a commanding position in the industrial life of the community.
> His chief interest, however, was not material, but spiritual. He sought money, not for its own sake, but for the spiritual uses to which it could be devoted. He occasionally expressed the desire to be rich, but never for the sake of what it would bring to him, but always for the sake of the good that he could do with it.
> That he was genuine in the expression of this desire is evidenced by the unostentious life which he lived. There was never any display of wealth or show of power. Without judging other men, his practice showed his fine sense of stewardship. ********
> His contributions to St. Paul's were always generous and he gave thousands of dollars in the extension work of the Reformed Church in Reading. ******

His gifts to local benevolences were rarely known when he could avoid publicity. He did much charitable work for orphans. And no worthy cause could appeal to him without substantial response. For more than thirty years Mr. Fricker sang in the choir of St. Paul's Reformed Church, of Reading, of which he was one of the founders. He was also greatly interested in the Bausman Memorial Reformed Church, of Wyomissing, and his familiarity with construction affairs led to his service on building committees of St. Thomas', St. John's, Calvary, St. Andrew's, Zion's, and of the first structures of St. Stephen's, St. Mark's, the Sunday School building of St. Paul's and also of the Seminary building of the Reformed Church in Lancaster. Mr. Fricker was a well known member of the Mozart Musical Union, but his voice was rarely heard except in the sacred edifices, which he took the greatest delight in attending.

Jacob Benton Fricker married, in 1868, Annie E. Getz, daughter of Peter D. Getz, a sketch of whom follows. Mr. and Mrs. Fricker were the parents of four daughters: Katharine, who died in infancy; Mary F., who married Thomas G. Mull, and who have one daughter, Helen; Martha A., died in 1914; and Anna F., who married John J. Beaver. Mrs. Fricker survives her husband and maintains the homestead at No. 214 North Sixth Street, Reading.

PETER D. GETZ—No more interesting or profitable privilege can engage the attention of the student of affairs and conditions than delving into the past for the records of early pioneers in any realm of endeavor. It is equally true that no locality is more richly blessed with records of worthy and commendable achievement than is Berks County, and in every decade of its history groups of upright and sturdy citizens have contributed to the general prosperity and well-being. The life of Peter D. Getz may well exemplify in these permanent records of Berks County the citizenship of his time, for throughout his career, which spanned a generous portion of the nineteenth century, he gave to life and its responsibilities the tireless and constructive endeavor which carried his name to a noteworthy position.

Nicholas Getz, grandfather of Mr. Getz, lived on a farm in Cumru Township, and it is a matter of tradition that he was the first farmer in that vicinity to own a finely finished carriage with springs. Tradition is explicit in handing down also the information that upon his drives through Reading the man and the vehicle attracted wide attention.

John Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Cumru Township, and reared in agricultural activities. He became the owner of a splendid two hundred acre farm adjoining his father's property, but his life was closed in its prime by an unfortunate accident. He removed with his family to No. 115 Penn Street, Reading, then after a short residence there, removed once more to a house at the lower end of Chestnut Street, finally occupying a house near his business, which was on the wharf, at the bank of the canal. This was known for many years as Getz's Wharf. John Getz was returning home from an evening call on his son, Aaron, and crossing the bridge at the foot of Franklin Street, which had guard rails only a part of its length, he fell into the locks. An abrasion on his forehead indicated that he was stunned by his head striking a stone in the water and was hence incapable of helping himself. This must have been the case, as he was known to be an excellent swimmer.

Peter D. Getz, son of John Getz, was born September 11, 1822, on the farm owned by his father in Cumru Township. Only a few years of age when his father lost his life, he was early active in business affairs, but secured an excellent practical education at the school presided over by Rachel D. Griscom, which was in a frame building on Penn Street, between Second and Third. He also attended school in the basement of the First Baptist Church, under Milo H. Ferry, who kept a rope suspended from the ceiling, threatening to hang up any pupil who was unruly. His studies were completed under Major David Madeira, who conducted a private school and is described as "a tall, stout man, with florid complexion and side whiskers." Major Madeira was very prominent in local military affairs and was for some time captain of the Washington Grays.

At the age of sixteen years, Mr. Getz hauled "sills" from Getz's Wharf for the construction of the Reading Railroad, and he witnessed the unloading of the first locomotive from a canal boat at the same wharf. This locomotive was named the "Delaware" and was brought from Philadelphia on Isaiah Goodfellow's boat, while a crane was used for unloading it. Iron rails were laid along Chestnut Street, and horses were brought to the task of drawing the engine to the plot of ground at the southwest corner of Seventh and Chestnut streets, where the old Reading Academy building later stood. People of all ages and both sexes came from all parts of the country to see the locomotive drawn up to the street. The railroad in its construction brought business to Reading, and Mr. Getz in his early activities did much toward its building. Having learned the blacksmith trade from his brother, Aaron, who was left in charge of their father's shop, the brothers did a great deal of work for the Reading Railroad Company, making spikes by the ton, indeed producing many tons of spikes and other iron work required in construction activities, including iron work for the many bridges along the right of way. Mr. Getz also, as he became the sole owner of the blacksmith shop, did the blacksmith work for the leading concerns of an industrial and commercial nature throughout the city. In the civic affairs of his time, Mr. Getz took the deepest interest, and was twice a member of the Common Council from what was then known as the Southwest Ward. He was first elected to that body in 1852, then later, in 1857, and at this time there were only five wards, Northeast, Northwest, Southeast, Southwest and Spruce. Mr. Getz further served as highway commissioner of the Western Division, which included all thoroughfares west of Washington Street, during the year 1874. For twenty-one years, Mr. Getz owned a stone yard at the corner of Front and Chestnut streets. His reason for retirement was not old age, but rather impaired health, due to an accident, a heavy stone having fallen upon him in the activities of the stone business. His partners in this interest were, successively, Reuben Drexel and Charles Davis, each of these men having been affiliated with him for about a decade. In many interests of a community nature, Mr. Getz held prominent rank, and not the least noteworthy of these had to do with the maintenance of order in the civic body. It is of interest to this record to quote from a newspaper published many years ago, which printed a full column article on the life of Mr. Getz. This article said in part:

> Mr. Getz recollects well when the night watchmen called out the hours of the night and the condition of the weather. When a boy he saw the young folks dance in the large hall of the public house that stood at the foot of Penn Street, south side, and which was kept by the late Henry Rheinhart from 1836 until 1841. There was generally dancing there every other Saturday night.
> The late Jacob Bushong was a member of Common Council from the Northwest ward, while Mr. Getz was a member from the Southwest. The latter said: "Mr. Bushong and I were appointed on the secret police force to walk around at night from about 10 p. m. till 4 a. m. several times a week in citizens' clothing, with power to arrest any disorderly or suspicious person and take them to the lock-up. If I found any disorderly persons together on the street I told them to disperse and go home, and I closely watched the movements of suspicious persons, but I never arrested any one. The secret police received no pay. At that time incendiaries, robbers and other objectionable persons were about, and it was thought the secret police could watch them better than the regular police, who were known as such. Each member of the secret police carried a pistol, but I never heard that any one had occasion to use his weapon. I was never attacked or abused. I went around partly disguised."

Peter D. Getz married Mary Magdalene Wehr, and they were the parents of seven children: Kate, wife of Albert Simon; Annie E., wife of Jacob B. Fricker, a sketch of whom precedes this; Jennie; Viola; Peter R.; Charles; and Linda, deceased.

PAUL H. GERHARDT, M. D.—Philadelphia and New York institutions gave Dr. Gerhardt the general and specialized medical training that was his preparation for the professional work that has been pursued in Reading and that has numbered him among the leading specialists of the district. Diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat form the field to which he confines his labors and in which he has been notably successful.

Dr. Gerhardt is a native of Berks County, son of Franklin P. and Emma R. (Peifer) Gerhardt, and was born at Wernersville, Pennsylvania, February 5, 1880. His public school studies were completed with graduation from the Wernersville High School in 1898, after which he took special work at the State Normal School at Kutztown, Pennsylvania, in 1900 graduating from Stoner's Business College. His medical studies were followed in Hahnemann Medical College, of Philadelphia, where he received the degree of M. D. in 1908, and he then began general practice, subsequently receiving the degree of O. et O. Chir., from the New York Ophthalmic College. The first year after his graduation from Hahnemann was spent as resident physician at Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia, and he was afterward, for one year, resident physician at the Homœopathic Hospital in Reading. Six years was the term of his general practice, but he now gives himself exclusively to eye, ear, nose and throat work, maintaining an office in the American Casualty Building, in Reading.

Dr. Gerhardt enlisted in the Medical Reserve Corps (later known as the Medical Corps) of the United States Army and was commissioned captain, leaving Reading August 3, 1917, and attending the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. Subsequently, he was assigned to duty at Camp Jackson, Base Hospital, Columbia, South Carolina, and from this place he went overseas, as chief of the eye service at Base Hospital No. 59, located at Remaucourt, Haute-Marne, France. After the close of hostilities he returned to the United States and was honorably discharged at Camp Dix, New Jersey, August 6,

These biographical accounts all give much the same meager information in referring to Nicholas Getz:

Fox - Vol. II, p. 71.

> "The Getz family is of German origin, and Mr. Getz James K. is the fifth generation in direct descent of John Getz, the pioneer in America. John Getz was born in the Rheinpfalz District of Germany, and receiving a grant of land from King George of England, he settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Nicholas Getz, son of the pioneer, became a resident of Berks County early in life, and until his death was a prominent and successful farmer in this Section. He married here, and here his children grew to manhood and womanhood, filling useful positions in life. Jacob Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Berks County . . .. Jacob Getz married Hannah Soder . . .. Hiram S. Getz, a son of Jacob, and fourth in descent in America, was born in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, 11 April 1822."

Fox - Vol. III, p. 242.

> "Nicholas Getz, grandfather of Mr. Getz Peter D. , lived on a farm in Cumru Township . . .. John Getz, son of Nicholas Getz, was born in Cumru Township . . . .. Peter D. Getz, son of John Getz, was born 11 September 1832 on the farm owned by his father in Cumru Township.

Montgomery - p. 339.

> Repeats almost verbatim the same information given above.

Biographical Sketches - p. 608.

> "James K. Getz was born in Berks County, 19 January 1848. He is of German descent, and the first of his ancestors to come to this country located in Lancaster, Pennsylvania in 1734. His paternal great-grandfather, Nicholas Getz, a son of John Getz, was born in that county and followed farming. Jacob Getz, the grandfather of our subject, was born in Berks County.

All of the above mentions only two children of Nicholas Getz (son of John) -- Jacob Getz and John Getz. One other reference noted elsewhere mentions a daughter, Susan Getz. There certainly were other children -- the census data would indicate another son, Nicholas. These biographical sketches also fail to make any refernce to a date of birth or death of Nicholas or his wife's name.

which they lived out honest, virtuous lives. Both reared generous families and their descendants reside in Lower Berks County and at Reading, many of them being among the most substantial citizens of their localities. The children of these pioneers married and intermarried and many of them still live in the same community and retain the old plantations.

Johannes Koch was a weaver by trade and this business he taught to all of his five sons. In addition he conducted his small farm, which is now embraced in the property of his great-grandson, Franklin Koch, of Lower Heidelberg township. He was a tall, well-built, raw-boned man, robust and exceedingly strong, and his sons and grandsons inherited his great stature along with his sterling honesty and persevering industry. He was noted for a kindness of heart that also distinguishes his descendants to the present generation. In religious belief he was a Lutheran. His burial took place at the St. Daniel's (Corner) Church. His family consisted of five sons and four daughters. (1) Stophel m. Elizabeth Texter and had no children. (2) Molly m. a Mr. Auchenbach. (3) John m. Maria Bergman. (4) Jacob m. a Miss Neff, and settled and died in Lancaster county, their children being, Frederick, Lewis, John, Catherine, Matilda and Mary. (5) Maria m. John Getz and they lived at Schoeneck, Lancaster county. (6) Susanna m. Benjamin Weidner and they lived at Ephrata, Lancaster county. (7) Christian, who was born in the South Mountains, Dec. 25, 1803, died there Oct. 7, 1875, in his seventy-second year. (8) Frederick m. Betsy Killian and they lived at Blainsport, rearing two children: Levi; and Betsey, who married Jacob Harding. (9) Elizabeth m. David Intzel and accompanied him to Ohio.

Christian Koch, of the above family, was a weaver by trade and owned a farm of seventy-four acres. Here he built a set of buildings which have since been torn down with the exception of the old log house which is used by his grandson and family as a wash house. Christian Koch was a member of St. Daniel's Church and served as deacon and elder. He was twice married, (first) to Mary Getz, who died July 10, 1838. They had two children: Mary, who married Richard Wenrich, and Catherine, who married Nathaniel Wenrich. He was married (second) to Hannah Hassler, a daughter of Sebastian and a granddaughter of Philip Hassler, of Heidelberg, and to this union were born three sons: Adam and Isaac, twins; and Franklin. Adam lived at Wernersville and Isaac lived at Reading. Franklin Koch was born Feb. 21, 1852, on the homestead in the South Mountains which he now owns and operates. In 1891 he erected the present substantial barn, and in the following year the house. In 1874 he married Malinda Hartline and they had children as follows: Henry, Eva Ann, Aaron, Ellen, Levi and Irwin.

John, second son of Johannes was a charcoal burner and in time was able to purchase a small farm. His entire life from 1795 to 1873, was passed in the South Mountains. He and his wife, Maria, had nine children, Annie, John, Jacob, William, Mary, Elizabeth, Benjamin, Joseph and Peter. John B. Koch, son of John and grandson of Johannes Koch, was born Dec. 14, 1821, in Lower Heidelberg township. With his father he learned the cooper trade and followed this until he was of age, when he was married to Sarah Hassler, daughter of Sebastian and Polly (Beck) Hassler, of South Mountains. They lived at Middle Creek, in Lancaster county, for four years, where he was a general laborer, after which he worked at his trade for seven years. For the next sixteen years he engaged in farming in Lancaster county and then purchased land in Lower Heidelberg township and lived on it for several years. He then resumed farming on his father's land in the South Mountains. After the death of his father he purchased the farm near Wernersville now owned by Albert Gehart and on that he lived for ten years and there his first wife died. After remaining a widower for several years he was married a second time and then bought land near Blainsport, in Lancaster county, where they lived for ten years, until the second wife died. Mr. Koch then sold that farm and made his home with his son Samuel. Although Mr. Koch is in the latter eighties he needs neither spectacles nor staff. He is, like his ancestors, tall and well built and remarkably preserved and in his prime could lift a barrel of cider unassisted with ease. He had no children born to his second union, but six were born to his first marriage: Mary m. Andrew Gauner of Lebanon; Samuel; Sebastian, deceased, who was buried at Hokendauqua, Pa.; twin daughters who died young; and Sarah m. Martin Texter.

Samuel Koch, a resident of Lower Heidelberg township, was born Nov. 15, 1848, at Middle Creek, Lancaster county, a son of John, a grandson of John and a great-grandson of Johannes Koch, the ancestor of the family. He was reared on the farm and lived there until he was twenty-five years old, after which he worked in a stone quarry for about twelve years, opening one at Wernersville and another between Manheim and Lititz, in Lancaster county. Mr. Koch is very versatile and if he had been forced to do so could have earned a good living at a half dozen employments. For two years he worked at shoemaking near Wernersville, then employed himself at various kinds of labor for a time and for seven years dealt successfully in cattle, handling from 300 to 400 head a year. In 1903 he took charge of the Hain's grist mill in Lower Heidelberg township, which he conducted until the spring of 1908. During this time he made a specialty of manufacturing two brands of flour which found a ready sale throughout this district and Reading, the Young America and the White Rose. After leaving the mill he retired to his own farm in Heidelberg township.

In 1874 Mr. Koch was married to Catherine Long, a daughter of Jacob Long, of Penn township, and to them have been born the following children: Irwin, m. Mattie Lutz and is a prosperous farmer residing near Albany, Ill.; Henry, residing at Robesonia, m. Kate Bierman; William T., also residing at Robesonia, m. Matilda Greth; Reily, also of Robesonia, m. Gertrude Fox; John L., living at Robesonia, m. Bessie Putt; and Nora and George both reside at home.

With his family, Mr. Koch attends the Hain's Reformed Church. In every relation of life he is respected and esteemed and may be justly considered as a representative of the best type of citizen to be found in Berks county.

GEORGE W. MARKS, an enterprising young business man of Lower Heidelberg township, Berks county, who is engaged in blacksmithing at Lorah, was born Sept. 17, 1872, in Spring township, son of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Hatt) Marks.

The great-grandfather of George W. Marks was a resident of Lebanon county and the father of a number of children, among whom were: Christian; Molly, who m. Daniel Umbenhauer; George, who was a resident of Bern township; and Hannah, who died unmarried. Christian Marks, grandfather of George W., was born in Lebanon county in about 1806, and after a long and useful life spent at laboring, died in 1890, being buried in the Sinking Spring Church burial ground. He was married to Sarah Stahl, of Womelsdorf, and they had five children: John, who is buried at Sinking Spring Church; Lovina, who m. Isaac Hoster, of Reading; Jonathan; Aaron; and Adam, of Montello.

Jonathan Marks, father of George W., was born Nov. 18, 1831, at Womelsdorf, and there as a young man learned the trade of tinsmith, which he followed regularly for nine years, and off and on for the major part of his life. He also engaged in farming in Heidelberg, Spring and Cumru townships. In 1900 he removed from Heidelberg township to Montello, where he now lives retired. Mr. Marks was married to Elizabeth Hatt, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Ortz) Hatt, and to this union there have been born the following children: Emma, who died young; John, of Wernersville; Adeline, m. to Joseph Wenrich; Katie, m. to John Bitler; Frank, a hatter of Montello; George W.; Annie, m. to Howard Kalbach; and Ellen, deceased, who m. Michael Kintzer.

and has lived in Lower Heidelberg since he was ten years old.

John Gaul, great-grandfather of James M., was born in 1789 and died in 1767. He was married to Barbara Arbogast, and by her had seven sons, of whom Christian was the sixth. The great-great-grandfather was Henry Gaul.

Christian Gaul, of Cumru, grandfather of James M. Gaul, was a farmer. He was born in 1781, married Mary Kissinger, and by her had six children: Christian did not marry; Abraham m. Mary Texter; Jacob m. Mary Huyett; Reuben m. Elizabeth Marshall; Mary m. Elijah Ruth; and Hannah m. Adam Hain.

Reuben Gaul, father of James M. Gaul, was brought up in Cumru township, and carried on farming in Lower Heidelberg from 1865 until 1887. He married Elizabeth Marshall, a daughter of David Marshall, of Spring, and they had ten children: David m. Mary Huyett; Frank m. Mary Buck; Henry m. Mary Ruth; James M. has mention further on; Mary m. Frank Fister; and five died young.

As previously stated, James M. Gaul was ten years old when his parents moved to Lower Heidelberg. He was educated in the township schools and at the Palatinate College in Myerstown. Upon leaving school he assisted his father on the farm until 1887, when he engaged in farming for himself and has continued to follow that calling until the present time. Besides his farming operations he has dealt quite extensively in live stock, more especially hogs, selling large numbers several times a year. He served as a school director of the township for six years.

Mr. Gaul was married to Kate D. Huzzard, a daughter of William Huzzard, of Reading, and granddaughter of Rudolf Huzzard. William Huzzard was a clerk in the employ of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company at Reading for many years, and died in 1867. He was married to Catharine L. Bechtel, daughter of Daniel Bechtel, of Cumru, and by her had one child, Kate, Mrs. Gaul. To Mr. and Mrs. Gaul were born two children: William R., who married Lillie Snader, a daughter of Tobias B. Snader, of Lancaster county, and is now residing at Robesonia, in Berks county; and one that died young.

DR. H. ECKERT MORRET, a successful medical practitioner located at Wernersville, Lower Heidelberg township, and one of the town's leading and representative citizens, was born June 1, 1879, at Douglassville, Berks Co., Pa., son of Benjamin Franklin and Clara C. (Herman) Morret.

The Morret family, which is one of the oldest and most honored in Pennsylvania, is of patrician rank and the name occurs among immigrants to America, compiled from The Nobility of Normandy, date A. D. 1688. In Claude D. du Maigney's Science of Heraldry, a very fine work and authority on the French nobility, published in 1856 in Paris, the name Morret also appears. Jean Dedier and Matthieu Morrett, brothers, came to Berks county, Pa., in 1757, the former of whom was the direct ancestor of Dr. H. Eckert Morret, and was buried in Lower Berks county, where he had lived.

Samuel Morret, son of Jean Dedier Morrett, and great-grandfather of the Doctor, was a farmer of Cumberland county, where he died about 1831, ripe in years. His wife passed away in 1860, when ninety years of age, having been the mother of three children: Samuel, the grandfather of Dr. H. Eckert; and John and George, who lived and died in Cumberland county.

Samuel Morret, son of Samuel, was a native of Cumberland county, where he became a general merchant and a prominent and successful man. He died in 1867, at the age of sixty-six years, and is buried at Circleville, Ohio. Mr. Morret was married to Mary Grabille, who was born in Adams county, Pa., and she bore him seven children, as follows: William resides at Muncie, Ind.; Caroline m. Jacob Throne, of Circleville, Ohio; Mary m. McKinney Smith, a farmer of near Waynesport, Lycoming Co., Pa.; Julia m. Jacob G. Leber, of Manheim, Pa.; Lida m. John G. Oliver, of Circleville, Ohio; Rusetta died in infancy; and Benjamin F.

Benjamin Franklin Morret was born June 29, 1842, at Churchtown, Cumberland Co., Pa., and received his education in the common schools of Carlisle and Wrightsville, Pa., and Circleville, Ohio. At the age of fourteen years he learned the coach-making trade at Muncy, Lycoming Co., Pa., an occupation which he pursued for one and one-half years. When the Civil war broke out, he enlisted at Circleville, for a term of three years, in Co. C, 15th Reg., O. V. I., 3d Brigade, 3d Army Corps, Army of the Cumberland. He was wounded by a musket ball in the right hip, Dec. 31, 1862, during the battle of Stone River, and after recovery was sent as drill sergeant to Fort Adams, Newport, R. I., where he drilled recruits and formed them into companies, a work which he continued until the end of his service. He received his honorable discharge with the rank of sergeant at Newport, R. I., Sept. 16, 1864.

After the close of his services to his country, Mr. Morret embarked in the iron business, renting Dowling Forge at Dowling, Chester county, where he continued two years, employing thirty men. He then went to the falls of French Creek for three years, and subsequently conducted the Union Forge, now called Lickdale, for four years. In 1878 he erected a forge at Douglassville, which he operated successfully for twelve years, employing sixty people, and in 1891 he built the Hamburg Vitrified Brick Works at Hamburg, in company with A. Howard Merritt and George W. Raudenbush. This he operated six years and then sold his interests to the Mack Brothers of Philadelphia. For three years Mr. Morret lived retired at Hamburg, but in 1900 he located at No. 40 North Sixth street, Reading, where he has since been extensively engaged in a real estate business.

In 1875 Benjamin F. Morret was married to Clara C. Herman, and one son was born to this union: Dr. H. Eckert. Mrs. Morret was a daughter of Rev. Augustus Herman, of Reading, Pa., who erected the old St. John's Church at Hamburg, and preached there for many years.

Dr. H. Eckert Morret received his education in the common schools of his native locality and the Hamburg high school, from which latter institution he was graduated in 1899, being class orator. He then entered Jefferson Medical College, from which he was graduated in 1903, at which time he was elected resident physician of the St. Joseph Hospital, Reading, where he remained one year. Selecting Wernersville as the field of his professional labor, Dr. Morret soon built up a large and lucrative practice, extending over a radius of twenty miles and including considerable practice in Reading. He is a general practitioner and has been very successful in his treatment of many complicated cases, giving most careful attention to his patients and sparing himself in no way when life or health are in the balance. Thus Dr. Morret has won the confidence and affection of the community. He is a member of Wernersville Lodge No. 835, I. O. O. F.; Washington Camp No. 199, and William Penn Commandery No. 8, of the P. O. S. of A.; and Maccabees of the World, of which he is examining physician of his district of Berks county.

On Feb. 7, 1907, Dr. Morret was united in marriage with Mary M. Schaeffer, of Wernersville, Pa., and they make their home in a desirable residence on Main Street.

JOHANNES KOCH, a native of Hessen-Darmstadt, Germany, came to America with a regiment of Hessian soldiers, who fought against the United Colonies during the struggle of the latter for their freedom from British tyranny. These Hessians were imprisoned at Mount Penn, at Reading. After their release, at the close of the war, many of them decided to remain in this country, as they could see it was a fair and good one, and among these were Johannes Koch and one Daniel Texter. They married women of Berks county and settled in the South Mountains in Lower Heidelberg township, where they secured land which they improved and cultivated and on

14 June 1834 – The house and lot were appraised at $1050

8 August 1834. Christian Koch, Henry ________ of Heidelberg Twp. and Joseph Palm and John Koch also of Heidelberg were bonded for $3000 to sell a house and lot at Sinking Spring in Cumru Twp. (The lot was bounded by lands of John Ludwig, the Sinking Spring schoolhouse, and the turnpike.)

(I found no further records for Sarah and William.)

13 September 1856 – Guardianship bond of Richard Wenrich, guardian of Catharine Koch, a minor child of Christian Koch, late of Lower Heidelberg Twp. (This is included because Christian Koch was not only the administrator of the estate, but he was also married to Mary Getz, eldest child of Nicholas and Elizabeth. Apparently, he died in 1856.)

Death of Aaron Getz

At an early hour this morning, Aaron Getz, a well-known citizen, died at his residence, 147 Penn street, in the 68th year of his age. Nearly two years ago he had a severe attack of pneumonia, from the effects of which he never entirely recovered, and it resulted in dropsy, which caused his death.

Mr. Getz was born in Cumru township, on his father's farm, subsequently known as Muhlenberg's farm. When Aaron was a boy of about 15 years, his father, John Getz, removed with his family to this city and established a blacksmith shop, in which the deceased learned his trade and followed is sic nearly the whole of the remainder of his life. In 1844 he took charge of the wharf and warehouse at Front and Chestnut streets, where he also carried on blacksmithing and conducted a wood and coal yard for several years. In 1859 he engaged in partnership in the blacksmithing business with his brother, Peter D. Getz, on South Front street near Penn.

THE GETZ FAMILY

The Getz family of Lancaster County began with Johan Petter Götz (I) von Kestenberg (of Chestnut Hill) who came to America on the ship Phoenix and owned a farm on Chestnut Hill, in Hempfield Township, between the Harrisburg and Marietta Turnpikes. He married for the first time in Germany, where he had four children, and for the second time in Lancaster on September 11, 1748. His second wife was Anna Christina Graber who died in 1762. The date of his death is unknown.[1]

One of his sons[2] was John Getz (II) of Lancaster Township and Borough. He was born in Germany in 1733, died in Lancaster in 1796. In 1756 he married Anna Maria Hammacher (1738-1817); nine children were born of this marriage, three of whom were silversmiths:

1. John (III) b. 1757, who had two wives, Anna Barbara 1753-1814, and A. Maria 1788-?
2. Catherine (1) died young.
3. Catherine (2) married Charles Reisinger 1786.
4. (John) Peter 1764-1809, married Catherine Stauf 1771-1820.
5. George 1766-1838, married Elizabeth Markley
6. Mary Magdalena, died young
7. (John) Jacob, 1770-1825
8. Daniel, 1773-1847, married 1805 Charlotte Eberly of Gettysburg.
9. Frederick 1781 – ?[3]

The Lancaster Zeitung for August 13, 1788 carried a notice of a house and piece of land near the Manor highway for sale by the owner Johannes Götz. Information could be obtained from his son Johannes Götz in Lancaster. An advertisement in the same paper for March 23, 1791 gave notice that this same property (the location is described in the same way, except "in Lancaster Township" has been added) would be sold at auction the following month; terms would be made known by Johannes Getz.

By 1793 John Getz (II) was in Lancaster since in that year he bought a piece of land fronting on South Queen Street from Adam Reigart for £200. In the deed he is said to be "of the Borough of Lancaster." His will,[4] proved in 1796, left everything to his wife Mary, specifically including this property. At her death it was to be sold and the money divided equally among their children.

The price of £200[5] paid for the South Queen Street lot indicates that there was already a house on it. However, since the 1798 Direct Tax shows that Anna Maria Getz was the owner and occupant of a two-story brick house valued at $1000 and since Peter Getz bought out the other heirs in 1803 for £500,[6] John II may have either improved the house or erected a new and more valuable one before his death. This is probably the two-story brick house still standing at 46-48 South Queen Street.[7]

GERSTELL, VIVIAN S./SILVERSMITHS OF LANCASTER, PENNSYLVANIA
1730-1850

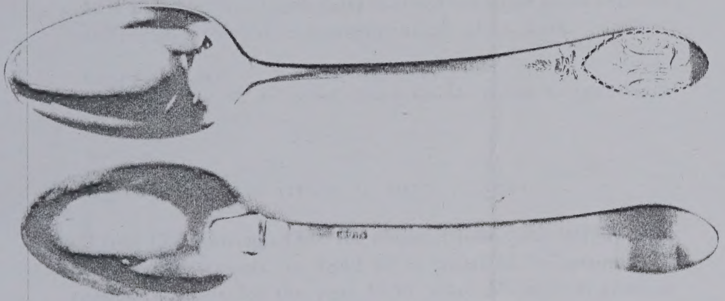
PETER GETZ b. 1764 d. 1809

Peter Getz was the third of the sons of John and Anna Maria Hammacher Getz who became silversmiths; inventor as well as silversmith, he is by far the best known member of the family. He led a busy and varied life, judging from the numerous records which give an account of his activities.

In 1782 he was a private in Captain John Ewing's (silversmith) Company of Lancaster County Militia.[1] The first tax record to give his name is that of 1785, where he is listed with the freemen, his trade, silversmith. In 1789 he appears on the list of heads of household; he presumably married Catherine Stauf about that time. In the Lancaster Zeitung for September 22, 1790, he offered $4 reward for the return of a bound servant girl who had run away in July.

Peter Getz was a Mason. Admitted to Lodge #43 the 13th of December 1786, he was Master from June 24 to December 27, 1794. A sword was ordered from him on March 12, 1794 for the use of the Tyler. In April 1807, he presented a handsome sword to the Lodge, again for the use of the Tyler. Unfortunately, both these swords have disappeared.[2]

Pair of Tablespoons. Peter Getz 1764–1809. Mark P. Getz in rectangle. Gold washed at unknown date. Collection of Mrs. Clarence Wolf.



Other community activities included charter membership in the Active Fire Company (1791 or 1792)[3] and in 1795 and in 1804, membership on a committee to raise money for the relief of the poor, as a representative from the Southwest Ward.[4] He was one of the signers of a petition to the State Legislature in 1798 asking for a City Charter.[5] Governor McKean appointed him in 1800 to inspect arms manufactured by Henry and Graeff of Lancaster, Jacob Lather and Conrad Welshans of York and John Fondersmith of Strasburg.[6]

Peter Getz must have been a spirited man of strong convictions. The Senate Journal for February 23, 24, and 25, 1801 gives a lively account[7] of his part in the celebration of Thomas Jefferson's election, when certain Lancastrians insisted on ringing the bell on top of the Courthouse although the State Senators were in session within. A committee appointed to investigate the disturbance reported that "a certain Peter Getz, of the borough of Lancaster, was guilty of conduct highly indecorous and insulting, as it respected the Speaker and Members of the Senate." The doorkeeper, Dietrich Heiss, stated that he had been sent to stop the noise until the Senate adjourned and said "I went upstairs to Mr. Getz, and told him, but he was so busy, he would not be disturbed and would ring whether or not . . . he would not hear me, said he would ring, and see who would keep him from it; that he was no federalist, but a republican and he would see who would prevent him." The doorkeeper reported to the Speaker, who then went himself to speak to Peter, but to no avail. "Mr. Getz made the same reply to him that he made to me . . . The speaker then ordered him downstairs immediately; it seemed he did not go immediately and then the speaker went after him and kicked at him. I saw the speaker kick at him once but do not know whether he hit him." Politics today seems tame when compared with such uninhibited behavior.

Peter Getz acquired lots on Water Street from Henry Dering in 1801[8] and in 1803 bought from his mother, brothers and sisters, their rights to and shares in John Getz's estate, including the house on South Queen Street.[9]

JACOB GETZ b. 1770 d. 1825

The name of Jacob Getz first appears in the tax records in 1802 in the list of freemen. In 1802 and 1803, his trade is given as bookbinder. On the 1805 assessment list he is called a silversmith and continues to be so identified until his name disappears from the tax rolls. In 1816, he moved to the regular list.

In 1817 the executors (John Getz and John Getz, Jr.) of Mary Getz, widow, sold to Jacob Getz for $780 a one-story frame dwelling house and piece of ground on the West side of Duke Street;[1] he thus bought property belonging to his mother's estate.

In May of 1819, an aged black woman, Dinah McIntire, was buried in St. James' Church yard. Her will left the balance of her estate, after expenses were paid, to Jacob Getz who was appointed as her "executor and my only heir." A story about her appeared in the Lancaster Journal for May 7, 1819, which said that "She has left her property to Mr. Jacob Getz, who had behaved to her in the evening of her days like the Good Samaritan."[2] On Jacob Getz' tax record for 1822 under "inmates" is the word "Dinah's." Possibly he was renting the house which, with three lots,[3] he had inherited from Dinah McIntire.

His property on Duke Street and two lots in Bethelstown were to be sold at a sheriff's sale according to a notice in the Lancaster Journal for September 12, 1823.

It is possible that Jacob Getz worked for a few years with his brother Peter; there is no known example of his work.

JOHN GETZ b. 1757 d. 1841

From 1779 through 1840 the name of John Getz (III) appears on the tax records, in 1842 he is listed as "silversmith-deceased." Except for the year 1800, when his trade is given as "repairing watches" and the year 1833 when he is called "gunsmith," he is always listed as a silversmith when trades are given. However, in numerous advertisements, notices and deeds,[1] no mention is made of silver work, he is called coppersmith and tinplate worker.

Although there were several other men named John Getz in Lancaster in the early nineteenth century,[2] John Getz, III seems to be the only one who fits this long tax record. According to the Getz genealogical chart, he was born in 1757. The Lancaster Union for November 23, 1841 carried this notice: "Died in this city on Wednesday the 10th inst, Mr. John Getz, Sen. in the 82nd year of his age." As mentioned above, the 1842 tax record lists "John Getz, silversmith, deceased." Allowing for a small error in his age as given in the newspaper, it seems probable that John Getz, III is the man listed in the tax records for so many years as a silversmith.

It is difficult to account for his being carried in the tax records as a silversmith when he was actually a coppersmith. However, it is possible that he was for a time associated with his brothers Peter and Jacob and, after the death of Peter in December 1809, turned to coppersmithing and tin plating. This possibility is borne out to some extent by the fact that his first advertisement (for sheet iron and tin plate manufacturing) occurs in the Lancaster Journal for April 15, 1813, in which he states that he "has removed from his former stand to East King Street, opposite Mr. Adam Reigart's store." In addition, Peter Getz' advertisement in April 1790 (see below) speaks of engraving in copper, and watches for sale; as mentioned above, the 1800 tax list gave John's trade as "repairing watches." Articles in copper are occasionally found marked "J. Getz," no silver by him is known to exist.

Although contemporary advertisements laid more stress on jewelry, watches and fire engines, Peter Getz is today most highly regarded for his work in silver; he and Charles Hall are probably the most famous of the Lancaster silversmiths. A soup ladle by him was No. 17 in the catalogue of the Maurice Brix collection sold at Parke-Bernet in 1955. A creamer was included in the 1937 exhibit in Philadelphia sponsored by the Colonial Dames, owned at that time by Mrs. Alfred Coxe Prime.[15]

Among examples of his work illustrated is a soup tureen now in the collection of Philip H. Hammerslough. This tureen was part of the silver plate bequeathed by Aaron Levy to members of the Gratz family of Philadelphia. It was inherited by Hyman

On April 28, 1790 Peter Getz' first known advertisement appeared in the Lancaster Zeitung. He called himself "Jeweler and Goldsmith" and gave his location "opposite Mr. Slough's Tavern."

In addition to all kinds of large and small work in gold or silver, (necklaces, rings, buckles, seals, etc., are specifically mentioned), he did engraving in copper and made artificial teeth. Watches of several kinds were also available. David Aird, watchmaker, of Edinburg, was associated with him; however the same newspaper for March 16, 1791 carried the announcement that this association had ended.

Peter Getz was an applicant for the directorship of the United States mint but lost out to David Rittenhouse. However, he made the dies for a large copper penny with a profile of Washington and/or a half dollar in 1792; accounts vary as to which coins his dies were for.[10]

On May 27, 1796, he advertised again, this time in the Lancaster Journal, watches and jewelry; he has "just received and has for sale an assortment of the most fashionable, useful and ornamental gold and silver watches . . . Also an assortment of ladies and gentlemen's Red Morocco Pocket-Books with instruments compleat." He was still "opposite Mr. Slough's Tavern in Queen Street, Lancaster." (Slough's tavern was on the southeast corner of Penn Square; the 1790 census, which was taken geographically rather than alphabetically, shows Peter Getz between Jasper Yeates, who was on the southwest corner of South Queen Street and Mifflin alley and Joseph Simon who was on the southwest corner of the Square. Therefore Peter Getz' location on South Queen Street must not be confused with that of his father John, which was also on the west side of South Queen Street but further south, near Vine Street.)

In addition to his silversmith work, and the improved printing press mentioned above in the notice of his death, Peter Getz was well known for his work on fire engines. At a meeting of the various fire companies in 1792, it was unanimously agreed that the two fire engines belonging to the Borough should be put under his "care and direction"; he was to be paid £4/10 for his services.[11]

On December 2, 1796, he advertised in the Lancaster Journal that he "means to carry on the Fire-Engine making and repairing in all its branches," and "orders from any part of America addressed to him in Lancaster will be punctually attended to." The same paper one year later (December 2, 1797) carried the following article under "American Intelligence":

> "FIRE ENGINE
> The ingenious Mr. Peter Getz of this Borough has compleated an engine for the Active Fire Company. This is the second that he has made[12] and we may venture to assert that for nicety of workmanship and power of action it is equal, if not superior, to anything of the kind, in Europe or America.
> Mr. Getz has made several improvements on the plan heretofore in practice. The use of metal, instead of leather, valves, has been found expedient, on account of their firmness and durability. The Active Engine contains 200 gallons and will empty itself in one minute, throwing the water to the immense height of 90 or 100 feet. By removing the mouthpiece from the branch or pipe, it will throw double the quantity of water in the same time, over a common three story house."

He continued to take care of fire engines, being paid $6 in 1807 for "attending the county engine."[13]

In his memoirs, David Rittenhouse paid tribute to his skill: "Peter Getz was lately a self taught mechanic of singular ingenuity in the borough of Lancaster. . . . and was remarkable for the extraordinary accuracy and elegance of the workmanship he executed."[14]

Subject: Mary and Sarah (Gotz) Getz
Date: Wed, 23 Jan 2002 10:09:06 -0500
From: Carolyn <snook@locl.net>
To: <carolync@locl.net>

I wasn't able to find baptism records for the girls either, but I did find that Joseph Dubs wife Suzanna (married on 5/1/1825) just happens to be Suzanna (Gotz) Getz. Could Suzanna be Sarah? That would mean that Nicholas Franklin Getz, son of Nicholas Getz and Elizabeth was sponsored at his batism by his older sister and brother-in-law. This may be a long shot, but who knows. I found the information on Joseph Dub(b)s and Suzanna in the Marriages published in Reading Adler Newspaper (1821-1825), Reading, Berks County, PA. Also, I was able to find that Joseph and Susan (Suzanna) had at least two children that were recorded, Alfred J. G. Dubbs and Elmira D. Dubbs. Joseph also had a second wife, Eleanor Murphy and had a son named Joseph Henry Dubbs. Haven't found a death date on Susan to know if she passed away or that they were divorced when Joseph married Eleanor. I have found out that there was a lot of divorces being done back in those days, too. In fact, on one side of my family a 3rd great-grandmother divorced and married 5 times, 3 times to the same man. Sorry, but when I got divorced, no way would I even think of going back to that man or that kind of life again!

On Mary Elizabeth (Gotz) Getz, I was only able to find one that was married to Johann George Schafer back in 4/10/1760, which would have made her born 3 years after Nicholas Getz in 1757. Maybe this is his sister or cousin? This information I found in the Records of St. Paul's Evangelical Luthern Congregation, Upper Saucon Township, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania (1750-1764).

Among my searches, I found where a Balzar Gotz arrived to the United States on the Ship Duke of Wurtenberg, on 10/16/1751. I'm still looking for the rest of them.

Was able to find Nicholas (Gotz) Getz married Elizabeth (Palm) Polm on 5/13/1810. Also, found that Elizabeth was born on 5/18/1791 in Sinking Springs, Berks County, PA and died 3/15/1857.
Her father was Peter Palm, MD. born on 2/18/1761 in Elizabeth, Union County, New Jersey and died 3/31/1828 in Sinking Springs, Berks County, PA. Her mother was Catherine Schwolley, born 1768 in Shafferstown, Lancaster County, PA. I found this when I was looking up the name Elizabeth Palm on RootsWeb.com. The Family Tree of JSmith Family has quit a write up on Dr. Peter Palm and shows that Elizabeth was the second child of eleven children.

Will keep in touch with you on anything else I happen to run across. As soon as the weather gets warmer and stays that way, I will be going to the cemeteries and looking up tombstones again.

Subject: Good morning
Date: Fri, 28 Dec 2001 06:57:42 -0800 (PST)
From: Karen Cripe <karencripe@yahoo.com>
To: Carolyn Cripe <carolync@locl.net>

Good morning. I hope you had a wonderful Christmas with the Gutknechts. We had a nice time at Mom's. Dan got lots of toys, so, he's a happy camper. He has been busy doing puzzles, playing with legos and erector sets. I have been busy playing with my new Lincoln Logs (from Mom). It's been fun.

On Christmas morning, I awoke to find my husband making me some caramel-pecan sticky buns--from scratch! It was heavenly! He tells me that his dad used to do this occasionally. Thank you for being a great role model.

The weather has been lovely--sunny and highs in the fifties. It's nice to have it cold enough to wear sweaters. It gets down to freezing at night.

We have been having a lovely, lazy time. Dan is enjoying being on vacation and has even started working on the next book. We are still waiting for Compaq to sign off on the first book. I think I may have to nag them a bit.

Anyway, we are doing well and hope you are, too. Good luck next week with Mike and Emily. Take care.

Love and hugs,
Karen and Dan
